

IF THE legislature is going to do anything about the community property law, let us hope that it will do the real thing. When it was a question of the rights of women, the legislature compromised, granting them the shadow without the substance. But now that it is a question of the taxes of men, it has to be faced more seriously.

There is a perfectly simple method of finding out what to do. There are five community property states in which the Supreme Court authorizes the filing of separate returns for income taxes, on the ground that their laws provide for real community property. There is one community property state—California—in which such returns are not permitted, because the Supreme Court finds that we have used the word "Community property" but have abolished the fact. The result is a loss of many millions of dollars in income taxes which we pay, from which the other community property states are exempt.

Nothing could be simpler than to take the law of one of those states and enact it as the law of California.

SOME friend of Senator Reed of Missouri telephoned to the state made in this column that the Senator knows no foreign language is incorrect—that he knows French and some German and Spanish. The correction is accepted as presumably based on information, though there is nothing in Senator Reed's own educational biography to indicate it, and the statement was made on the authority of a usually well-informed Washington correspondent. According to his account of himself, Senator James A. Reed was educated in the district schools and had a "special course" in Coe College, Iowa, which could not have provided much linguistic training.

HOWEVER, assuming that the isolationist Senator from Missouri can read some European languages, it is obvious that he has used that knowledge to very little effect. He has not acquired from any appreciation of the mental processes, the history or the institutions of the people who use those languages. He indulges in the most grotesque distortions of their motives. If he has learned the words, he has not learned the soul, of the peoples over whose relations with the United States his committee presides.

EVIDENTLY President Coolidge's plan of a naval limitation conference is going to work out one way, or not the other. France and Italy having rejected the five-power meeting, it will become a three-power one, with Britain, America and Japan, the only three great naval powers, as the participants. Doubtless the absence of France will compel some changes in its plans. Britain will not ask a certain attitude in cruiser building, in case France outbids her. But there will at least be a meeting, and there will probably be an agreement, on some basis, even if it is less than we would desire.

AT LEAST there is this satisfaction. The two nations which wish to join with us in limiting naval armaments are precisely the only two which could possibly fight us. In our early days we had two wars with one of them, and in our later days there were many rumors of war with the other. They are the only nations which have navies comparable to our own, and they are the only formidable powers which face us across two ocean frontiers. On our land frontiers are Canada, which is a host-age of peace, and Mexico, which can not fight us, though we may be rash enough to fight it. So our associates in disarmament are the only potential enemies. This agreement manifests that neither of them thinks it conceivable that we should ever be actual enemies.

IF "MORAL" disarmament must precede physical disarmament, the three great naval powers are already disarmed. They will not fight each other. And at least are proof against attack by anybody else. The temptation will be, rather, to combine to police the seas of the world against everybody else. The nations are not yet quite ripe for that.

IT IS the freshmen that do the drinking, says Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U. Most college upper classmen have cut it out.

Naturally, in these days drinking, by young or old, is mostly a smart-Aleck performance. Except for the "old soaks," it is not the physical desire for the drink and the soaks will not last long on the sort of stuff the bootleggers are now supplying them. The college freshmen have not had time to acquire the liquor appetite. They are merely trying to be smart. Upper classmen are more likely to realize that it is not smart. And older men have mostly lost their appetite, except those who have dangerously increased it. The ordinary run of bootleg patrons drink to show that they can, or because they are afraid to confess before their neighbor that they can't.

"CONGRESS has subjected itself to more serious criticism for its failure to reappoint its own membership than for anything else," says Congressman Barbour. He is right as to Congress, and the same criticism will justly apply to the California legislature, unless it, too, now finally complies with the mandate of the constitution.

WHAT right have Congressmen and legislators to rule over us if they cannot govern themselves? Here is, in both state and nation, a misfit apportionment of representation in government among the people. The constitutions, state

SINCLAIR CASE GIVEN TO JURY

Excitement Is Promised in Ford Suit

DETAILS OF LIBEL ACTION ARE OUTLINED

William Henry Gallagher, Chief Counsel for Sapiro, Continues Statement

JURY APPEARS EAGER

New and Stringent Rules, Governing Court Conduct Are Laid Down by Judge

(By United Press)
COURTROOM, DETROIT, Mich., March 16.—Details of the case Aaron Sapiro will present in his attempt to win a million dollar verdict against Henry Ford were painstakingly outlined today.

William Henry Gallagher, chief counsel for Sapiro, continued his opening statement, which began yesterday with a sketch of Sapiro's biography.

Before Gallagher is through he will read each of the 141 instances of alleged libel against Ford.

Ford's attorneys will outline their case before evidence begins and after Gallagher is through.

"I promise plenty of excitement from now," Gallagher said, as he came to court today, evidently elated over his success in winning an argument yesterday for Ford to testify personally.

The court attendance today was somewhat smaller.

The jury, half men and half women, seemed eager for the day's events.

New and stringent rules governing conduct in court were laid down.

Will Guard Doors
Doors will be closed and guarded. Newspapers will not be permitted in the courtroom.

Opening of court was delayed while attorneys argued in chambers on points involved in the opening statements.

It was almost an hour after opening time before the balliff droned the customary court opening.

Attorney Gallagher resumed his statement.

"We will show you that Mr. Ford had certain ideas with respect to the Jewish people," said Gallagher.

Senator James A. Reed, of defense counsel, was on his feet with an objection to the reference to Ford's anti-Semitic ideas. The court sustained Reed and Ford won the first clash over whether Jerry is an issue.

Gallagher approached the issue from another side.

"We will show you Mr. Ford charged a 'band of Jews' sent out one of their people to band the farmers together in co-operative associations and placed them under the domination of this international body of Jews."

The statement passed without challenge.

"They say that Aaron Sapiro dominates American farmers for the benefit of this international body of Jews."

"They charged he allied himself with this international body of Jews allied themselves with Communists and Bolsheviks to bring about the same condition in this country as in Russia."

"They charged this body of Jews conspired to go into the American home, take the child at its mother's knee and instill into it the doctrines of Communism."

"The question for the jury is: 'Was Sapiro libeled by these charges?' Gallagher said.

Mimi Imperato, proprietor, his wife and two children were asleep upstairs, but were uninjured.

SHANGHAI, March 16.—U. S. marines today recovered, without firing a shot, a Standard Oil barge, which had been commandeered by Chinese soldiers.

The barge was seized at the mouth of Soochow creek, under the nose of the foreign fleets.

The legation did not consider the incident serious.

Street Car Crash Inquiry Under Way

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—An investigation into the crash of a Pacific Electric passenger car and a freight train of the same line, in which 14 persons were injured, was under way here today.

None of the passengers was seriously injured and all were recovering from shock and bruises today.

The accident is said to have occurred when an inbound car of the South Pasadena line crashed into the rear end of a 20-car fruit train here last night.

The freight train, witnesses said, had come to a complete stop at a safety crossing and the motorman of the passenger train apparently failed to see the train.

COMMITTEE KILLS BILL ON EVOLUTION

Vote Taken on Measure to Stop Teaching of Theory Following Public Debate

MANY ATTEND HEARING

Assemblyman Heisinger to Ask Legislative Body to Again Bring Up Proposal

(By United Press)
SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Evolution, which strutted its hour upon the legislative stage last night and was killed in committee by an unanimous vote soon after, may still come before the legislature for settlement.

Assemblyman S. L. Heisinger, author of the bill, today gave notice of his intention to ask the legislative body to call the bill up out of committee.

The vote last night was taken following a hard fought debate, led by Assemblyman Heisinger for the measure, and Maynard Shipley, president of the Science League of America, against it.

Assemblyman William Byrne, of Los Angeles, presided over the hearing, which was held in the assembly chambers. The room was packed to the galleries, half the audience being women.

Dr. Harry Rimmer, Los Angeles, president of the research science bureau, opened for the proponents of the bill, branding the famous ape man of Java as a hoax and attacking the policy of teaching unproved theory in California schools.

"I do not allow religion to be taught in tax-supported schools," Dr. Rimmer said, "who should you permit atheism to be taught?" asked the Rev. Gerald D. Winrod, of Topeka, Kas., member of the American League of Christian Fundamentalists, who, with Dr. Rimmer, bore the brunt of the proponents' arguments.

More than 100 books, teaching evolution, are authorized by the state in its high schools, Winrod said, quoting liberally from the various books.

Maynard Shipley, leading speaker for the opponents, held that "Fundamentalist theologians were responsible for the Heisinger bill. Those who know least about science are presuming to tell those who know most about it what they shall teach, he said.

"If we're going to be gagged so we can't teach anything that doesn't admit that the Book of Genesis is better than all the works of science, we feel that it is the first step to a union of church and state," the speaker insisted.

Dr. Carl Warner, representing the Bay Cities Methodist Ministers association, said that the Methodist church, the largest Protestant church in California, was not asking for the law.

The Rev. Berkeley Blake, pastor of the Unitarian church of Sacramento, declared his denomination was opposed to the bill.

The Rev. Harvey H. Gill, of San Jose, representing the Congregational Church of California, offered a resolution against the proposal from northern California conference of his church.

The Rev. Mr. Gill also bitterly attacked Dr. Rimmer's standing as a scientist, quoting Dr. David Starr Jordan as saying he didn't know who Rimmer was, or anything about the science societies Rimmer belonged to.

Rabbi Harold Reinhardt, of Sacramento, declared there was nothing in evolution in conflict with the teaching of Judaism.

Following the hearing, the committee went into executive session immediately and passed the vote tabling the measure.

"Just as I expected," was Assemblyman Heisinger's comment. "The cards were stacked against me."

While the evolution hearing was in progress last night, members of the assembly labor committee had troubles of their own, listening to arguments of a delegation of San Francisco and Oakland, who contended it is nobody's business how many hours they work.

The bill under discussion was a measure by Assemblyman Ray Williamson, San Francisco, which is intended to add more classes of work to those already covered by the eight hour law for women.

Unable to secure enough votes to give it a "do pass" recommendation, the committee temporarily shelved the measure.

Governor Young's $193,500,000 biennial budget would be considered before the assembly ways and means committee tonight and it is believed the bill will reach the floor of the house within a week. The budget will be adopted with few minor changes.

The shilallah, now the property of State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, was brought from Ireland by Timothy Healy.

MRS. CHAPLIN WILL GO BACK TO FILMS SOON

Says Husband's 'Starvation Tactics' Driving Her To Studios

HOLLYWOOD, March 16.—Lita Grey Chaplin will return to the screen within two weeks.

Forced, by what she terms the "starvation tactics" of her famous husband, Charlie Chaplin, to seek a living for herself and babies, Mrs. Chaplin will resume her picture career pending the settlement of her divorce case, she announced here today.

"I hate to think of going into motion pictures again. They recall too many unpleasant memories, but I will not impose upon my friends and relatives any longer," Mrs. Chaplin said.

She said that although she had received numerous stage and screen offers, the latter were being considered seriously for the first time because of the bills that have been accumulating since her return to the Chaplin mansion.

"Mr. Chaplin has refused to make any provision for the support of the babies and until the courts settle the case I will go back to work in the studios and support them," she said.

The comedian's young wife declared that her intention to work was not a gesture of surrender but that she would continue to fight more bitterly for the justice that was due her children.

"We have received a total of $100 from Mr. Chaplin's personal attorney and that is all. Mr. Chaplin hasn't shown the slightest interest in the children and we have been virtually starved into the necessity of finding funds."

She said that it cost Chaplin $3000 a month to maintain the Beverly Hills house and that since she had moved into it under a court order bills had been piling up and she saw no other way in which to pay them, but by working.

Seek Records In Baby Farm Case

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Mrs. Minnie Foss, alleged proprietor of the Moneta "baby farm," was scheduled to be questioned here today, while authorities continued to search for records of more than a score of infants.

Pending the outcome of the investigation, two children, Beverly, 18 months, and Stanley, 4, were in custody of juvenile authorities. The children were taken from the home of the accused woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Durrell, of Bellflower, late yesterday.

William Hines, former husband of Mrs. Foss, will be questioned again today relative to his accusations against his ex-wife.

Probe Shooting of Doctor by Officer

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Dr. George Ham, Moneta physician, was fighting infection from a gun wound in his right arm in the White Memorial hospital here today, following an encounter with a Compton motorcycle policeman.

The officer, C. J. Andrews, is reported to have brought the physician to a stop by firing a bullet at his speeding machine in Compton early Monday morning.

According to Dr. Ham, he was speeding to the bedside of a patient when the officer gave chase and fired at his car. Andrews was suspended pending investigation by the Compton police commission.

NEVADA'S YELLOW LURE NOW BECKONS IN NEW DIRECTION

Bright Prospects in Barrel Springs Claim, Sold For $70,000

TONOPAH, Nev., March 16.—The gold lure beckoned today to Barrel Springs, four and one half miles from Weepah, as a new strike swept into prominence.

The vein which Wes Watson, veteran "desert rat," uncovered at Barrel Springs Monday and sold yesterday to Edward J. Roberts, of San Francisco, for $70,000, holds prospects almost as bright as the Weepah bonanza, miners declared.

The vein is 40 feet wide, with a five foot width of ore showing. On the side of the strike diggings, the rocks fairly glisten in places with gold.

The vein already has been traced for 4500 feet, the new owners said.

Roberts and Black moved just as speedily after purchasing Watson's claims as they did when they laid down the $70,000 after a hurried examination of the strike.

Already they have incorporated into the Weepah Development Mines company and this morning they hurried truckloads of machinery from Tonopah to the location.

Start Opening Vein
Four experienced miners started opening the vein and prospecting for the best place to sink a shaft.

Years ago, Indians were reported to have struck gold at Barrel Springs, but this is the first attempt to develop the prospects there.

It is a matter of record in mining history that many of Nevada's biggest gold mines were discovered by Indians. Goldfield was a conspicuous example of this, the gold there first having been located by a 19-year-old Indian boy, named Stimler.

Goldfield produced $55,000,000 before it went "dry."

With the first mad frenzy of claim staking ended, the gold crazed town became a bit more stable today and turned attention to the lighter things of life.

Even at Weepah, the center of the "yellow fever," the 60 tents and few shacks erected there found a "jazz palace" in their midst.

It's just a tent, with a shanty floor, a phonograph for music and a few girl entertainers around, but it proved popular on its opening, last night, with the miners and adventurers who remained at the camp.

Amusement Business Booms
Of course the amusement business is booming in Tonopah, for catering to the desires of miners to be entertained is a prosperous enterprise.

Frank Horton Jr., the lad who made the big strike at Weepah, received a telegram from New York asking if "orchestra and lady entertainers required. Can bring 16 to 20 people."

Horton also has received his first proposal of marriage, from a girl who assured him in a sweet-scented letter that she is "blonde and pretty."

Young Horton could three claims today to the Mexican Gold and Silver Mining company, for $30,000. Leonard Traynor, who was with Horton in the strike, also shared in the deal.

Senator J. A. Houlahan, of Goldfield, was reported, has refused an offer of $50,000 for several claims he holds.

Eddie Mead, well known Reno mining man, with a $100,000 certified check in his pocket, is one of the would-be buyers here.

PROSPECTORS START FOR ARIZONA STRIKE

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 16.—Long before the first rays of sunlight broke over the mountain tops today, a motley caravan of prospectors, mining engineers and surveyors started over desert roads to Dripping Springs, scene of Arizona's bonanza gold strike.

The strike, perhaps richer than the Weepah, Nev., gold discovery, was announced by James B. Girard, veteran Phoenix mining engineer, who displayed ore samples assaying as high as $100,000 a ton.

JAIL TERM MANDATORY IF CONVICTED

Wealthy Oil Operator and Sportsman Charged with Contempt of U. S. Senate

TRIAL BEGAN MARCH 7

Action Result of Refusal To Answer Questions in Investigation of 1923-24

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The Sinclair contempt of the senate case was sent to the jury today.

The juryman are to decide if Harry F. Sinclair, wealthy oil operator and sportsman, is guilty of contempt of the senate for refusing to answer questions by the senate oil committee three years ago.

In case of a conviction, a jail sentence is mandatory, the law providing for a fine of $100 to $1000 and from one to 12 months in a "common jail."

The case is an outgrowth of the famous senate oil investigation in 1923-24. Sinclair appeared before the committee March 22, 1923, and declined to answer questions, explaining he feared his testimony might affect court litigation in which his Mammoth Oil company was involved. Nine days later he was indicted for contempt of the senate.

The trial began March 7, with the jury excluded nearly three quarters of the time, while questions of evidence were argued and settled.

FREE LEOPOLD OF PLOTTING CHARGES

JOLIET, Ill., March 16.—Complete exoneration of charges that he was "master mind" in a plot to poison all guards in the state penitentiary here and liberate 1200 prisoners was accorded Nathan Leopold Jr., "thrill slayer" of Robert Franks, late this afternoon.

Leopold was cleared after he had undergone questioning by Warden Elmer Green and other prison officials.

To Proceed With Election Inquiry

DETROIT, Mich., March 16.—Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, in an interview today, with the United Press, declared he had summoned the primary fund investigating committee to meet in Washington, Saturday, for the purpose of proceeding with the Pennsylvania inquiry. Reed said he probably would not be able to muster the full committee, but that he was of the opinion the investigation of the alleged ballot frauds of two Pennsylvania counties should not rest until next session of congress.

U. S. Steel Common Reaches New High

The pair escaped in an automobile left parked in front of the bank.

Health Boards Warn of Childhood's Dangers!

Precautionary Methods Against Diphtheria, Typhoid and Other Contagious Diseases Being Widely Adopted
Says Best Protection Against Colds and Contagion Is a Strong, Stout Robust Body With Well Developed Powers of Resistance

Wide publicity is being given to the pronouncements of Health Boards and Physicians, advising immediate inoculation against the dangers of Diphtheria, Typhoid, etc., and pointing out that school children, brought together in close daily contact, are particularly susceptible to contagion.

Many people agree that the best possible protection against contagion, colds, grippe, pneumonia, and childhood disease in general is a strong, stout, robust body, well fortified with powers of resistance.

For many years, Cod Liver Oil has been generally recognized as among the very best of body builders, aiding in the creation of firm, healthy flesh and tissue, promoting weight increase, developing bone and muscle, and building a tremendous reserve strength and vitality to carry youngsters safely through the physical pitfalls of childhood.

Old fashioned Cod Liver Oil was unpleasant stuff, it's true—evil smelling, nasty tasting, stomach upsetting and hard to take. Children hated it. But still it worked. But now parents can give their children all the old time benefits of Cod Liver Medication in the form of tiny, tasteless, sugar-coated tablets as easy to take as candy. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are their name, and they have revolutionized all the old ideas about Cod Liver Oil.

Parents everywhere are buying them for their growing children—over 20,000,000 sold last month—and right here in town, all reliable druggists are authorized to sell them with the distinct understanding that unless their use gives satisfactory results in 30 days, the money paid for them will be refunded. If you have a child in school today, give this matter thought. If he or she is weak, underweight, fretful, nervous and has little appetite for proper food at meal time, take it as a danger signal. Look out! Get hold of him in time. And remember that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets have been called the World's Greatest Body Builders for growing girls and boys.—Adv.

EXCITEMENT IS PROMISED IN LIBEL ACTION

graph on which the suit is based. One paragraph charged Saprio and his associates "plunged into debt for their own benefit" the Farmers' co-operatives.

Another charged that when the farmers were put "flat on their backs" a group of bankers stood ready to loan money to the farmers' co-operatives.

The names of Harris Weinstein, Otto Kahn, of New York, Eugene Meyer, A. W. Lasker, Bernard Baruch and others were read by Gallagher as being mentioned in the articles as associates of Saprio.

"We will show these individuals were a very small part of the prominent men of this country allied with Saprio in this work," he said. The article charged, the jury was told, Herbert and Mortimer Fleischacker, of San Francisco, bankers, were important in the situation on the Pacific coast.

"We will show you such men as Frank Lowden, of Illinois, and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, of President Coolidge's own cabinet, are members of Saprio's plan of co-operatives," he said.

Gallagher passed to a third article.

Deal With Specific Instances
"In this particular article they began to deal with specific instances of this Jewish organization exploiting the farmers," he said.

There was a charge, Gallagher said, "utterly without foundation," that Saprio drew from the California Apriort association $88,000 attorney's fees and that he dominated the California Prune Growers' association.

While drawing this fee, Gallagher quoted the article as saying Saprio was in the south, organizing cotton and tobacco growers and drawing a large salary from the California farmers. Gallagher promised to disprove the charge.

The jury listened interestedly to this first exposition of the case it is to decide.

ARMY OF GIRLS IS FOUND BELOW PAR

BERKELEY, March 16.—If all women were drafted for the "battle of motherhood," as men were drafted to fight in the World war, an astonishing number would be rejected as "unfit."

This view is held by Dr. Frank W. Lynch, professor of obstetrics at University of California, who believes the percentage of physical disability among young women is proportionate to that among young men as disclosed during the war, when 730,000 out of 2,510,700 men were rejected by army physicians as poor material for military service.

"Records of infirmities and gymnasiums of women's colleges show that a large percentage of girls are below par," declares Dr. Lynch. "Many would be rejected were a draft board to call out women for motherhood," he said.

San Joaquin Once Like Polar Region

PASADENA, March 16.—The San Joaquin Valley of California was once much like the regions surrounding the north pole, it was indicated, following discovery of peculiar hoofed mammal skeletons, resembling those of the musk ox by scientists of the California Institute of Technology. The theory held by Dr. Chester Stock, professor of paleontology at the school, is that the same climatic conditions now exist in the polar regions must have existed in California, because of the similarity of the two types of mammals, the one found here and the other found which inhabits the extreme northern section of the North American continent.

Brothers United After 30 Years

REDDING, March 16.—John Blaylock, of Sawyer's Bay, and Fred Blaylock, of Oak Bar, were recently united after a separation of 30 years, during the greater part of which the two brothers had thought each other dead. For the past six years, they had been mining along the Klamath river, only 75 miles apart, yet they knew nothing of each other's whereabouts until a "local item" in a newspaper, stating that Fred Blaylock's water wheel had been swept away by the river flood appeared. John wondered whether the Fred Blaylock mentioned might be his brother. He addressed a letter to him and a happy reunion followed. The brothers formerly lived in Huron, Mich. At an early age, Fred went to Canada. From there he wrote, in 1894, that he was going to Alaska to hunt gold. He was never heard from afterward. It was assumed he had died.

BY-PASS ACROSS BIG BREAK ON COAST HIGHWAY BETWEEN H. B. AND NEWPORT PLANNED

The California Highway commission and the Orange county supervisors have been fighting shy of the job of paving a by-pass across the big break in the Coast highway between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach.

Not because they were indifferent to the seriousness of the interruption of traffic, but on account of engineering difficulties and uncertainties as to results, involving what they have felt would be unjustifiable expense; and also because it has been their belief that the permanent bridge to be built by the state could be put through to completion in record time.

However, in response to urgent requests from citizens generally, and especially from the business men of Huntington Beach, Newport Beach and Laguna Beach, Supervisors Jeffries and Mitchell and Highway Commissioner Baumgartner yesterday afternoon reached an agreement whereby the state would apportion $1500 and the supervisors would apportion $1500 toward a fund with which to construct a by-pass at the site of the bridge the state is preparing to build across the break in the state highway between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach.

To this fund the Talbert Drainage district has agreed to contribute $300, and in accordance with their offers of financial co-operation, the towns of Huntington Beach, Newport Beach and Laguna Beach are to be asked to contribute $1000. Such contribution on the part of the beach cities would raise the fund to $4800, for which sum it is estimated a very serviceable and satisfactory by-pass can be built.

Inasmuch as Division Engineer Cortelyou of the state highway commission hopes and believes he can get the new bridge in within 60 days after work starts and he expects to have work started within a week or 10 days, and feels confident that the work can be completed in 90 days at the longest, neither the state nor the county has felt justified in incurring the heavy expense involved in the proposed by-pass. But on account of the strong feeling among the business men of the beach cities that their business interests are being seriously affected by the interruption in travel over the Coast highway, both state and county decided to go the limit in the way of incurring expense to afford them relief.

The decision to go ahead with the by-pass construction, if the $1000 should be forthcoming from the beach cities, was reached late yesterday afternoon at a conference between State Highway Engineer S. V. Cortelyou, Highway Commissioner J. P. Baumgartner, Supervisors Mitchell and Jeffries, County Highway Superintendent Nat. H. Koff, Engineer W. W. Hoy of the Talbert Drainage district and two members of the board of directors of that district.

In the event that the beach cities do not wish to contribute to the by-pass fund, the county and state will maintain a detour over the county road which is now in use, and the state will make every possible effort to speed up the work of building a permanent bridge across the break.

Students Rescue Dog Barred from Berkeley Campus

BERKELEY, March 16.—"Contact," dog mascot of the University of California, has scored a victory in his battle for a college education. Several weeks ago, President W. W. Campbell of the university, barred all dogs from the campus. When "Contact" persistently violated the edict, he was put in the dog jail. Students intervened, however, and now "Contact" is at the California Agricultural college at Davis, taking a course in farming, so to speak. Students provided his transportation.

City Denies Dog Catcher New Car

SALINAS, Calif., March 16.—A dog comedy of errors and terrors was enacted here recently, when city council refused to appropriate an automobile for the city poundmaster to collect stray hounds. The city fathers believed they could economize by offering $1 for each dog brought to the pound. Within 48 hours, children had brought in 207 dogs, received their dollar and stampeded ice cream soda parlors and movies with the proceeds. Much to the poundmaster's embarrassment, however, all the dogs brought to him were bona fide dog residents of the city, licensed.

Movie Chatterbox

Music and the movies, going hand in hand, are Americanizing Europe. This is the reaction brought back to this country, after six months' stay in Europe by Sam Fox, noted music publisher of Cleveland. "Wherever I went," he relates, "I noticed American movies being displayed and American songs being sung. It's remarkable how these two seem to have spread together throughout the continent."

"In Vienna alone, I discovered there are no less than 400 motion picture houses, and there was hardly a house that did not include in its program at least one American production."

2800 Movie Houses
"There are 2800 motion picture houses in that country that was formerly Austria-Hungary, but is now broken up as parts of Austria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia."

"Europe has taken keenly to the melodious type of American jazz, although the classical is supreme popular in Germany and the blues still hold their own in Central Europe."

"This and the movies of this country seem to be sweeping through Europe."

With this as a first step already set firmly on the continent, Sam Fox sees the next move there in the co-operation of music publishers and picture producers, for the synchronization of music scores with films.

This is already an established practice in America. Composers are being asked to create music for definite film subjects and there is a new profession of "compilers" who choose appropriate selections for the various scenes of a film, run them together according to proper sequence and time and thus compose a uniform rendition for the picture.

Working With Film Folk

For this purpose the music publishers work with the film producers. Fox, for instance, is responsible for the music that accompanies the film, "Old Ironsides," and he is now working on a compilation of music for "The Rough Riders," which will soon be produced by the same film outfit.

"The music publishers have advanced with pictures," he says, "so that now the music is about as important as the film itself in the creation of the proper atmosphere for its enjoyment."

Although not as much of this is seen in Europe, Fox comments, he did see the beginnings of such co-operation in the larger picture houses of Europe's capitals.

SAN DIEGO, March 16.—Word of the death, in Panama, of Capt. J. P. Tompkins, commander of the submarine flotilla, was contained in a telegram received today by Mrs. H. A. Field, wife of Capt. H. A. Field, U. S. N.

Asserts Indians Unduly Blamed In Igniting Forests

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—When in doubt blame the Indians. Chief Horse Eagle, an Osage, here recently, said that apparently was the habit of most pioneer white men, as well as many historians, in accounting for timber losses by fire in the earlier days. Horse Eagle said the Indians were more careful with their forests than the white man is today. Stories about Indians setting wholesale forest fire in pow-wow frenzies are untrue, the chieftain said.

Great pains were taken by the red men to guard their forests from fire, principally for the protection of their villages and for the preservation of animals roaming forests, on which the Indians lived.

The only times the Indians fired forests was when at war with other tribes, and this destructive method was employed sparingly, he said. Horse Eagle is 105 years old.

OBITUARY

LeRoy Rodolphus Cook, son of Rodolphus B. and Harriet Congdon Cook, was born in San Juan Capistrano, Orange county, California, April 21, 1884, and died in Santa Ana, March 7, 1927.

With the exception of three years ranching near Covina, Los Angeles county, and three years near Hemet, Riverside county, most of his life was lived in San Juan Capistrano.

He was married here to Hilah Fay McCarty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McCarty, of San Juan Capistrano, who survives him. He also leaves four children, Glenn Cook, Santa Ana; Mrs. Gordon Robertson, and Elmer and Hilah Cook, of San Juan Capistrano, and two grandchildren, Donald LeRoy Cook, Santa Ana, and Harriet Blanche Robertson, San Juan Capistrano.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cook, and his grandmother, Mrs. Mary A. Congdon, live in Santa Ana, and one brother, Russell Cook, lives in San Juan Capistrano.

He had extensive ranching interests near San Juan Capistrano but was never too busy to take an interest in civic improvements. He was a member of the chamber of commerce and an earnest worker in school and church welfare.

Funeral services were held in Santa Ana Wednesday, March 9. The Rev. Hugh McNinch, pastor of the Community Presbyterian church of San Juan Capistrano, officiated. The choir of the church sang "Sometimes We'll Understand."

He was borne to his last resting place by J. S. Malcom, Carl Hankoy, Oscar Gullbert, J. Roy Smith, Ferris F. Kelly and William P. Magee.

PRIZES AND DEATH

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., March 16.—Tony Lungo, truck driver, who achieved fame by eating 60 meat balls at a sitting, won a $100 bet here by devouring 25 frankfurter sandwiches in two hours. He drank two glasses of water, one of orangeade and went home under his own power. At Middletown, N. Y., on the same day, Sidney Conditini was running and eating a frankfurter, strangled and died.

My, How The Town's Grown!

Few of us remember the town crier who shouted through the village streets: "Come one... Come all! Town hall tonight!"

He was the pioneer of advertising.

But the average town has grown—grown so rapidly that the poor town crier gave up as hopeless any idea of keeping pace with swift moving conditions.

Today the store that has anything to sell—merchandise or service—uses the newspaper to get its message across.

We shall be pleased to send one of our representatives who will give you an idea or two on successful advertising.

There are some words of Mr. Thoreau which I commend to you, as you look out upon a world which seems at the moment to have been robbed of interest and of the possibility of joy. ## MAGIC LANTERN THEATER GROWS TO BIG CONCERN

NEW YORK, March 16.—A man who was exhibiting magic lantern slides to miners in a little Pennsylvania town not many years ago, has opened a $10,000,000 motion picture theater in New York, the largest playhouse in the world.

He is S. L. Rothafel, better known to radio fans as "Roxy."

The theater was the New Roxy theater, Seventh avenue and 60th street.

A distinguished audience filled the enormous house of 6200 seats for the opening performance.

In the new theater there is a place from which Roxy and his "gang" again will broadcast their entertainment as they did when he was manager of the Capitol theater.

Roxy's story is that of the small town boy who came to the big city in search of fame and fortune.

Born in Stillwater, Minn., he came here when he was 12.

His first job was as a cash boy in a Fourteenth street store. Followed an enlistment with the marines and service in China during the Boxer rebellion.

His experience with the lantern slides was while running a store in Forest City, Pa. He used his store money for his improved performance. Later he went to Minneapolis, where he evolved a distinctive system of picture presentations.

Roxy came to New York as manager of the Regent theater in 1913. Since then he had been associated with a number of the leading theaters here as well as entertaining on the radio.

Even Roosevelt Trembled Facing Lens of Camera

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Conducting presidents on official, political and private trips about the country is a familiar experience to Capt. David E. Hardester, veteran Pullman conductor of Washington.

He served President Wilson as conductor of his official and private trains for eight years, and was in charge of Calvin Coolidge's train during his first election campaign. Previously, he had been assigned to Grover Cleveland's private car after his retirement from office, and had "conducted" Presidents Roosevelt and Taft on various trips.

"Roosevelt and Wilson were both effective rear platform speakers," in Captain Hardester's opinion, and he found them both omnivorous readers between stops, although their preferences differed radically.

"The only time I ever saw Roosevelt falter for a minute as he stepped from his car was when a hidden cameraman unexpectedly set off a noisy flashlight," he recalled. "It seemed to come from nowhere and startled both of us. Roosevelt recovered himself instantly and smilingly putting his hand on my shoulder, remarked, 'What's the matter with you, Hardester?'"

KISS AND DIE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Members of the medical profession here have issued a warning that there are just so many beats in every human heart and it's up to the individual to spend them as he chooses. The average heart, they say, beats 1,545,264,000 times in a lifetime. Excitement, such as kissing, increases the rate from normal 70 to about 90. Thus, a single kiss would shorten life by nearly three minutes.

GOODWIN WILL BE BROUGHT HERE TO TESTIFY AGAINST GAINES FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The Rev. Philip A. Goodwin, actor-priest condemned to hang for the murder of Joseph J. Patterson, will have opportunity for retaliation upon Albert Dewey Gaines, his "pal" who turned against him and aided the prosecution in convicting the priest.

This was made known this afternoon when Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan and F. A. Howard armed with an order of the court, departed for San Quentin to bring Father Goodwin to Santa Ana as a state witness in the trial of Gaines. The priest is expected to be here Friday.

The announcement gave a pronounced dramatic impetus to the trial of the "Utah cowboy." Immediately speculation ran riot as to what the priest might tell in court against the friend whom he regarded as a betrayer.

Will Be Kick to Story
"Would Goodwin stick to the claim that he had steadfastly made—that he doesn't know who killed Patterson, since he was present? Or would he abandon that attitude, which failed to save him at his trial, and admit the verdict of the jury, that he was actually involved in the murder?" And, doing that, would he drag Gaines down into the pit of guilt with him? These were the questions being asked, as the Gaines prosecution today resumed work on the preliminary framework of its case.

Since Goodwin's appeal from the death sentence is now before the supreme court, most observers believed that he would not make any admissions if he had any to make. His own safety would seal his lips they thought.

But the appearance of the convicted priest upon the witness stand, if it transpires, will lend extra color to the trial, all agreed, no matter what his testimony may be.

Today's proceedings had not yet brought the prosecution of Gaines to the point where the hard fighting may be expected. The numerous links that Prosecutors Blodgett and West have prepared, are not yet welded into a chain. The case is still concerned with identification of the dead body found in Santa Ana canyon last March as that of Joseph Patterson.

Dr. R. A. Cushman, Santa Ana physician, who examined the body when it was disinterred last July for identification as Patterson, was first on the stand today. His testimony was accompanied by much loud rattling of the skull fragments in the tin receptacle that has been much before the jury yesterday and today. Women jurors instinctively drew back, evidently not yet fortified to view the gruesome exhibit complacently.

The defense scored a point in the cross-examination of Dr. Cushman when they forced him to change his testimony that he could determine, at least to a faintly satisfactory extent, whether fractures in the Patterson skull were made before or after death. When Defense Attorney George Halvorson confronted him with testimony he had given at the Goodwin trial, to the effect that he could not determine such a fact, Dr. Cushman said he would modify his latest answer to conform with the earlier testimony.

"Wise men change their minds. Fools never," he remarked dryly, and Judge Allen was forced to rule for order in the courtroom.

Cemetery Man Testifies
F. Marion Eden, superintendent of the Anaheim cemetery, where the body of the "unknown man" was buried, followed Dr. Cushman to the stand. He testified regarding disinterment of the body later, to aid the state in proving that the unidentified body buried in March was the same body that was disinterred and identified as Patterson in July. The defense was expected to contest that point.

The prosecution started building up the motive for Patterson's murder yesterday afternoon when two Los Angeles bank officials were called to the stand to testify regarding financial transactions affecting Patterson's affairs just before and just after his death.

It was shown that a check, declared by the state to be a forgery, was drawn upon Patterson's bank account, virtually eliminating his balance, two days before he is said to have accompanied Gaines and the Rev. Philip Goodwin to San Diego on the journey that meant his death. The state has already stated its charge that Gaines and Goodwin financed the San Diego trip with their victim's own money. The check according to E. D. Hill, manager of the former Hellman bank in Los Angeles, was presented at his bank on March 11 and was charged to Patterson's account on March 14, while the Gaines-Goodwin-Patterson party was in San Diego. The check, drawn for $130, was the famous "Samuel Reeder" check, which figured so prominently in the case against the priest last fall.

Hill also identified a $14 check entry, drawn on Patterson's bank account in favor of Allison Dewey, and cashed on March 18, three days after Patterson had been slain.

This was said to be the check which Gaines, testifying against the Rev. Goodwin at the priest's trial, said that he had written. Gaines said, however, that he had not signed Patterson's name to the check, having handed the unsigned check to Goodwin, who later returned it to Gaines with the Patterson signature attached, whereupon Gaines cashed it, although he knew or suspected that Patterson had been dead for three days.

Del Crosby, chief teller of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank, Los Angeles, was the other banker on the stand yesterday. He testified regarding the Samuel Reeder account at his bank, where the $130 check had been deposited. He had never seen Samuel Reeder, he said.

At Goodwin's trial last fall, the priest testified that he had deposited the Reeder check under that name, for Gaines, having received the check from Gaines, he said, Gaines told him, the priest claimed, that he wanted some money handy in an emergency to supply bail in the event of his arrest, so

TRIAL SIDELIGHTS

The crowds are beginning to gather at the Gaines trial in very increasing proportions. Yesterday afternoon, for the first time spectators had filled every seat and were standing along the walls.

Judge Allen's daylight savings plan, which convenes court at 9 a. m. and closes at 3 p. m., with an hour for lunch, has been heartily approved by all hands. One advantage noted, is that it allows ample time for preparation of the daily stenographic record in time for the next day's session, which tickles the official court reporter. Attorneys also have more time in which to air themselves for the next day's battle, and they are pleased. The jurors can go home early enough to mow the lawn or prepare supper for hungry husbands.

The judge, however, goes right on working after the trial is adjourned. He uses the remainder of the afternoon for hearing short cases, lunacy matters and "default" cases.

Vincent Surr, San Francisco attorney, who is distinguished legal advisor to the British consulate-general, and is in charge of the Rev. Goodwin appeal from the death sentence, is getting more and more interested in the Gaines trial, from appearances. From being the silent observer, he has taken to the habit of occasional whisperings with prosecution counsel.

Designation of the gruesome skull as "exhibit 13" in the Gaines case, the same number it had at the Goodwin trial, was accompanied by the announcement yesterday from Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett that the state desired to introduce all exhibits in the same order that they were offered in the Goodwin case, so that same numbers might be retained.

that he could gain immediate release before the police learned of his previous criminal record. Gaines and the priest had both been inmates of the Utah state penitentiary.

Call Brother of Dead Man

Robert B. Patterson, brother of the murdered man, prosecuting witness in the case, and important "identification" witness, made his awaited appearance on the stand late yesterday. He described trinkets owned by his brother, including a peculiar watch chain, a ring, initialed belt buckle and a mirror bearing the advertisement of a Miami, Arizona, clothing firm, all of which objects were found on the dead body. The witness himself is a resident of Miami.

He also identified his brother's signature on various documents, including a certificate for stock of the Julian Petroleum corporation. It is the state's charge that the slayers of Patterson forged his signature to six oil stock certificates, similar to that introduced yesterday.

The defense sprang a mild surprise by excusing the witness without a word of cross-examination. Observers were trying to estimate whether this was an attitude of disdain for the efforts of the prosecution to build up a case.

The defense will contend that Joseph J. Patterson's skull was not crushed by a blow at the time of his death, as alleged by the prosecution, it was disclosed yesterday afternoon while Attorney Halvorson was cross-examining J. E. Seale, Fullerton undertaker.

The collapse of the rear portion of the skull, when the body was disinterred four months after death, for identification as Patterson's remains, was due to "natural falling apart of sutures of the skull," Halvorson said the defense would prove.

His declaration was made during an impromptu lecture on physiology, in which the attorney tested the undertaker's knowledge of anatomy, after Seale had testified that the rear of the skull was crushed and had fallen into small pieces.

Undertaker on Stand

Halvorson asked Seale to name the various bones of the skull, but Seale admitted that he didn't know them by name, only by sight. At any objection from the prosecution to his questions, Halvorson made the statement of his theory of the skull.

Immediately afterward, however, Dr. J. H. Lang, Fullerton physician, named the various skull bones for Halvorson, and declared that, in his opinion, the collapse of the skull was not a natural process, but was caused by the application of "considerable force," more than once. It would require a very hard blow, for a single blow to crush the skull in such fashion, he testified. His testimony regarding the blow was admitted over the objection of the defense.

Near the close of his testimony, Dr. Lang, examining the skull, observed a crack in the nasal bone which he said was a fracture. When Halvorson politely inquired whether he was sure of that, the physician looked at the skull again and decided that the crack was a natural separation.

Dr. John Menges, Fullerton dentist, also testified yesterday afternoon, identifying a chart of Patterson's teeth, made at the time the body was disinterred last July.

BOY SCOUTS WILL TAKE UP ARCHERY

Archery—the latest fad to sweep the country in line of sports, is to be added to the regular activities of the Orange Council of Boy Scouts of America, according to Roland E. Dye, scout executive of Orange county.

To that end, Dye explained, arrangements have been made for holding a course of instruction in archery for patrol leaders and scout masters, to be conducted by Jack A. Hofer, of Glendale, deputy commissioner of the Pasadena Council of Boy Scouts.

The first of a series of lessons will be given Saturday, March 19, at 9 a. m., at the shop building of the Orange intermediate school. This lesson is set aside for patrol leaders. It will be followed by another lesson in the afternoon for scoutmasters.

It Is Sterling—More Cannot Be Said

How true it is that our first admiring glance at silver is quickly followed by a searching look. Does that look bring disappointment? Or does it show the stamp of sterling silver . . . Sterling?

It does make a difference, that word "Sterling." For silver stamped is solid silver . . . most beautiful, most precious, everlasting. Yet its cost is surprisingly low, as a visit to our store will prove.

Surprise Gift Shower Planned to Honor Bride-elect

Since Miss Flora Pritchett recently announced her engagement to John Bruns, well known young citrus grower of the county, her friends are aware that quilts and such household appointments, are of prime interest in her life. So when Miss Charlotte Morrison suggested that Miss Pritchett and Miss Floy Allen join her at her home, 801 North Van Ness avenue, and spend the evening piecing quilts, the bride-elect fell in with the suggestion without in the least suspecting that she was the center of a friendly plot.

But Miss Morrison and Mrs. Walter Wright had planned a delightful party among the officers of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., of which Miss Pritchett's sister, Mrs. Sam Jernigan, is past matron. The guests met at the nearby home of Mrs. Jennie Shippe then made their way to the Morrison home, stealthily entering at the rear and suddenly bursting into the room where the three girls chatted and laughed over their quilt blocks. All agreed that it was one of the most successful surprises imaginable, and also one of the most enjoyable evenings, for Miss Morrison and Mrs. Wright had planned a highly diverting game called "Progressive Bug." Tallies were hand-painted in clever bug designs, and as the players progressed from table to table, they rolled up astonishing scores.

Mrs. William J. Dean held high honors and received a lovely basket; Mrs. Maude Swarthout with second high score, won a pyrex plate while Miss Pritchett with low score, was consoled with a tiny aluminum pie plate.

While Mrs. Wright, aided by Miss Morrison's mother, Mrs. John Morrison, was arranging the card tables with lovely linens, in readiness for the refreshment hour, Miss Morrison drew a green decorated wagon into the room, and left it before the honor guest. Surmounting an imposing array of packages was a dainty doll bride, and in her keeping were countless gifts in wide variety for the future use of Miss Pritchett.

Guests were then bidden to the tables where green covered baskets held white flowers and lacy foliage, nut cups were in green, ice cream was centered with shamrocks, and the cake had green decorations in its icing.

Enjoying the opportunity to express to Miss Pritchett, their friendly interest in her wedding plans, were the hostesses, Mrs. Wright and Miss Morrison, Mrs. John Morrison, Mrs. George Prather (matron of Santa Ana chapter), Mrs. Sam Jernigan, Mrs. W. R. Sylvester, Mrs. Elton Roehm, Mrs. Jack Willey, Miss Lettie Stowe, Mrs. Verda McClain, Mrs. Jennie Shippe, Mrs. Roy Parker, Mrs. Ruby Greeley, Mrs. Maude Swarthout, Mrs. Roland Kloess, Mrs. C. T. Cleland, Mrs. W. J. Dean, Mrs. G. L. Lyon, Mrs. H. J. Roberts and Miss Floy Allen.

Ebell Society

Massenet's opera "Manon" offered an interesting study subject to members of Ebell's music section when they met in the lounge at 11 o'clock Monday morning for a review of the opera and a sketch of the composer given by Mrs. Victor Montgomery.

After her informative and most interesting talk, the members moved to the lounge to have the advantage of the piano there for the musical features of the program. Monroe Sharpless was introduced and gave a beautiful tenor solo, "Le Reve de Des Grieux" from "Manon" and then by request, sang two English numbers, "Mavis" by Claxton, and "Lassie O' Mine" by Walt. Mr. Sharpless, son of the section's leader, Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, is tenor soloist with the Wilshire Presbyterian church, Los Angeles. Kathryn Barnard was the second guest artist presented and sang two charming numbers from Nevin's song cycle from Stephenson's "Child's Garden of Verses," and MacDermitt's "Charity." Victrola selections from "Manon" completed the musical program.

A St. Patrick's day luncheon was served at 1 o'clock in the section room at tables daintily appointed in green and white and with Miss Louise Tubbs, Mrs. Rolla Hays, Mrs. W. G. Knox and Mrs. Florence Hawthorn as hostesses. Following the luncheon the interesting afternoon music section members joined others from the general society, in the enjoyment of the poetry section's program on the poet, Lew Saret.

Fortieth Wedding Day Is Celebrated in Happy Manner

When Mr. and Mrs. John Boose last night joined other members of their family in enjoying a dinner party at the home of their son, Herbert Boose, 1551 East Seventeenth street, they understood that it was in celebration of their fortieth wedding anniversary, and enjoyed the occasion very much.

Following the very delicious dinner served by Mrs. Herbert Boose, and at which covers were laid for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Boose, for Mr. and Mrs. Boose sr., their daughters, the Misses Ruth and Esther Boose, and Master Frederick James Boose, son of the hosts, the surprise of the evening developed.

This was the arrival of a group of friends and neighbors who had assembled at the home of the surprised couple and then moved in a body to the scene of the dinner party, where they offered their congratulations and good wishes to the senior Mr. and Mrs. Boose for having reached their fortieth wedding day.

The evening was a merry one with music and song to enliven it, and many reminiscences of the wedding day in LaVerne, Minn. An unusual feature in connection with the anniversary, was the fact that the officiating minister, the Rev. L. S. Staff, now of St. Louis, has been spending several weeks' vacation in Southern California, and just completed a week's visit in the Boose home. While here, he wrote a touching poem and presented it to them to commemorate the anniversary. This poem was read aloud last night by their present pastor, the Rev. E. J. Nickel, who also presented the honored pair with a substantial gift which represented the interest of the assembled friends and relatives.

Before the evening drew to a close, refreshments were served to complete the happy affair.

Members of the party which joined the family group for the celebration, were the Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Nickel, and Mrs. Charles Andres, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith, Mr. and Mrs. F. Kubitz, Miss Margaret Nuffer, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Hoefler and George Munz.

Whittier Man Wins Charming Bride

When Miss Gladys Fitz, pretty brunette Berkeley alumna, became the bride last Friday of Edward M. Hausladen of Whittier, a graduate of University of Southern California, it was in the presence of close relatives and a few friends gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Fitz on Chapman avenue.

The gardens had been rifled of their loveliest flowers to add charm to the wedding scene, the bride's gown of peach silk crepe blending beautifully with the color scheme. The young people took their vows before the Rev. David Loubbourrow of Garden Grove, and the wedding party was completed by Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Miller who served as best man and matron of honor.

Miss Ruth Fitz, sister of the bride, and Miss Betty Newsom, in dainty frocks, presided in the dining-room where appropriate wedding refreshments were served ere the departure of the young Mr. and Mrs. Hausladen for a brief honeymoon after which they will make their home in Whittier.

SANTA ANA GIRL IS HONORED AT OBERLIN

Miss Virginia H. Thatcher, daughter of Mrs. Edith W. Thatcher, of 506 East Chestnut avenue, and a member of the freshman class at Oberlin college has just received one of the highest honors which the Ohio institution can award to students in their first year.

Miss Thatcher has been elected to the freshman honor list which includes the 10 per cent of the entire freshman class who have received the highest marks at the mid-year examinations, and, in addition, has received further honor of being ranked among the first 10 members of the honor group.

For the recognition of those who receive this honor, a special day is appointed for a general convocation of the entire undergraduate body in Finney Memorial chapel. At this time the secretary of Oberlin college reads publicly the names of those who have been elected to the honor list. This is the most coveted distinction which can be obtained during the freshman year at Oberlin.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Dorcas Society
The Dorcas society of First M. E. church met Friday afternoon in the church parlor with Mrs. John Lounsbury, Mrs. Richard Howland and Mrs. J. Poland, hostesses. For the devotional period Mrs. Howland chose "Love" as her subject using Paul's exhortation to love and also excerpts from Henry Desmond's book, "The Greatest Thing in the World."

Mrs. Lounsbury as chairman of membership committee, reported the acquisition of 17 new members into the society since October 1. Owing to increase of membership a plan was adopted to include three members as hostesses for each meeting instead of two, as formerly. Mrs. Charles Seitzer gave a short talk on the "Cultivation of Social and Spiritual Fellowship," suggesting a program of systematic visiting among members of the church and community.

Special meetings were arranged for this week in four sections of the town for the purpose of making small aprons for a special offering. St. Patrick motif was evident in refreshments served during social hour.

Girls' Friendly

This Girls' Friendly society of the Church of the Messiah was entertained Monday night at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. W. L. H. Benton, 1504 Bush street, where they enjoyed the privilege of inspecting the Rev. Mr. Benton's old books, some of which are very valuable.

The usual sewing and study book discussion was postponed until the next meeting which will be held at the home of the Misses Mary and Lou Pomeroy, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. S. Pomeroy of 718 South Broadway.

Following the delightful evening in the Rev. Mr. Benton's study discussing volumes hundreds of years old, Miss Margaret Clonfoni and Miss Margaret Bondley served refreshments.

Those present at the meeting included Miss Catherine Officer of Pittsburg, Penn., a guest in the Benton home, Mrs. Benton, Dr. Mable Van Tremain, Miss Jean Battersby, Miss Edith Twist, Miss Catherine Chapman, Miss Gertrude Chapman, Miss Mary Pomeroy, Miss Margaret Clonfoni, Miss Margaret Bondley, Miss Olive Granger, Miss Pauline Riley, Miss Beatrice Boyd, Miss Louise Stephenson, Miss Kate Benton, Miss Ruth Ann Walker and Miss Janet Briggs.

Endeavor Social
Intermediate Christian Endeavor members of the United Brethren church held a very enjoyable social in the church parlors recently amidst pretty green and white decorations arranged in honor of St. Patrick's day.

Many games were introduced by the superintendent, Mrs. Logan Harter, and at the close of the evening, brick ice cream, home-made cake, wafers and candy were served by the hostess group, Vivian Smith, Mabel Harrison, Nellie McQueen and Gladys Gross. Others present were Nellie Boyd, Delbert Harter, Fern Scharle, Royal Gammell, Thelma Scharle, Dorothy Scharle, Maxine Smith, Eliza Walker, Esta Walker, Wendell Harter, Frankie Fern McDonald, Mary Boyd and Val Getty.

New Home Is Scene Of Housewarming

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore who but recently moved into their new home at 805 Lowell street, were surprised last night when a group of friends dropped in to spend the evening. The self invited guests had arranged to spend the evening at bridge, high scores at which were held by Louis Lühr and Mrs. John Mitchell.

Preceding the serving of refreshments prepared by the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Moore were presented with a luncheon set.

Guests included Mrs. Cora Cavins, Mrs. Ida Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lühr and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Whitson.

Park Party Honors Third Birthday Of Wee Girl

Small Miss June Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Schneider, 2018 Santiago avenue, celebrated an important event today, for she was three years old, and in honor of the date, was to have her very first birthday party.

The little maiden's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Veda Schneider and Mrs. C. A. Fisher, planned a picnic in Orange county park as a fitting celebration, and accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Spaenhower and her little daughters, Florence and Betty Jean, and Mrs. Golda Overly and her small daughter, Aunette, the party motored to the park for games and birthday lunch.

An outstanding feature of the affair was the sparkling white cake where birthday candles bloomed, and tiny June was very careful indeed to blow out every candle. The cake with other picnic and party "goodies" made one of the tables under the big trees, a very attractive spot for a very happy little birthday maid.

Rose Arbor Tea Room Will Open Tomorrow

Policemen

Where is the boy that never wanted to be a policeman? If there be such, he sure missed something.

What powerful men! What manly carriage! What walking compendium of complete safety! Strong of arm, fleet of foot, direct of speech and pulling (if required) a mean trigger.

Day after day, it's the hum-drum beat of the city streets. Then, like all unexpected affairs, something happens. From the latent to the assertive, the policeman leaps like magic. His is the commanding, necessary foil between savagery and safety. For a mob merely indicates an atavistic return to barbarism. And civilization, amuck, as shown by the robber, the murderer, the drunk, the anarchist, spends its force first (too often last) against the police.

Are policemen brave? Also, will a duck swim?

THE LIFE OF CHRIST Doing Good on the Sabbath

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D. SKETCHES BY KROESSEN

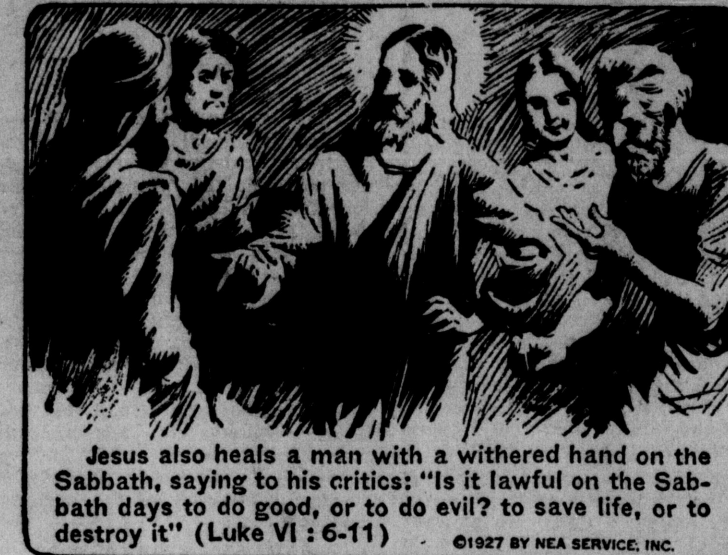

Jesus, seeing Matthew, "sitting at the receipt of customs," said, "Follow me," and Matthew left his place, and followed Jesus, becoming one of the Twelve. (Matt. IX: 9)

Jesus, healing a paralytic, on the Sabbath, at the Pool Bethesda in Jerusalem incurs the anger of certain narrow Sabbatharians. (John V: 2-18)

Jesus also offends the narrow Sabbatharians by defending his disciples for plucking and eating the ears of corn on the Sabbath. (Luke VI: 1-5)

Jesus also heals a man with a withered hand on the Sabbath, saying to his critics: "Is it lawful on the Sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it?" (Luke VI: 6-11)

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites then said goodbye to Mary, with a long, long sigh. She'd been so very nice to them, they didn't want to leave. And, as she walked on down the street, wee Scouty said, "She sure is sweet, but now that she has really gone, there is no use to grieve."

So, off they went to look around and see who else might soon be found. They traveled down a little street, but no one came in sight. "I'm getting sleepy," Coppy said. "I'd like to rest my weary head." And then they found a clover field and turned in for the night.

'Twas nice and soft upon the ground and every Tiny slept real sound. When morning came the sun rose high and woke them with a start. Wee Clowny jumped up to his feet and said, "The morning air is sweet. We'd better not be loafing. It is time that we depart."

Just then they heard a funny sound, like feet upon the distant ground. And ere they had a chance to think, a boy went running by. Then Scouty shouted, "This is fun. That's Young Tom, Tom the Piper's son. He's got a pig beneath his arm. We soon will hear it cry."

They traveled fast upon their feet and followed Tom right down the street. And then they saw that someone else was close upon his heel. Ah, what excitement for the bunch. And then, quite true to Scouty's hunch, the funny looking piglet in Tom's arm began to squeal.

A lesson then, poor Tom was taught, 'cause very shortly he was caught. The Tinymites felt real sorry, though they knew that he was wrong. To steal a thing is very bad. Tom found that out and felt real sad. And when the lad was taken home, the Tinies went along.

(The Tinymites have a pig roast in the next story.)

THE WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

I want to tell it exactly as the wonderful Madame Schumann-Heink tells it herself in the story of her life now appearing in a woman's magazine.

"Schumann gave me, then, for the wedding, as is the custom with the Masons, a pair of white gloves, and he said,

"These gloves are white, unsoiled, and so I will keep you and hold you in my heart, Tiny, until my last hour—and he did."

"I have those gloves to this day—they have grown old with me. Ah! What life does to us—and what we do to ourselves!"

And I can't resist the tale of Nordica's big feet as Schumann-Heink tells it. The madame had gone to Nordica's home for dinner. The butler refused to let her in, not believing that this plain woman in an ugly cheap street coat was a guest of his mistress. Nordica's maid heard the fuss and rescued Schumann-Heink, and Nordica, horrified, sent her guest upstairs to be dressed right.

"There I was, beautifully 'turned out,' with pearls and earrings and a necklace and things stuck in my hair from Nordica's jewel box. It was a fine black dress I had on. I was not so fat at this time, so it fitted me very well. But I don't mind telling you that Nordica's slippers were too large. You know, I really have very small feet—a characteristic of Austrian women. Well, we stuck something in the toes of the slippers, and I wore them. I was fine!"

Most of us will love Schumann-Heink more than ever for this little revelation of purely feminine vanity.

PRETTY SHOULDERS

Are your shoulders really pretty? Perhaps you have never given them much thought since they are covered, most of the time, yet a well formed shoulder is one of the greatest assets to beauty. A really lovely and feminine shoulder will be recognized whether it is covered or not, for it will be sufficiently broad to denote health and power, yet supple and slightly dropped toward the arm. It should be round without any suggestion of stoutness, and the shoulder blades held almost flat to the back.

The woman who has very thin shoulders will find her problems fewer than the fat woman, for she has tulle and chiffons to veil and suggest curves over her shoulders when she is wearing low cut dresses, and she can learn to stand properly so her shoulders are well set, and therefore an attraction to her figure.

For the woman who is too stout, reduction is the only solution if she wants pretty shoulders. Rolls of fat can be massaged off, and a general all-over reduction will help even more than a massage.

However, if you are too stout, or too thin, or your shoulders too square, or the blades prominent, or even if you have stooped round shoulders, here is an exercise that will help in every case! Place your arms at right angles to the body, bend at the elbow, and bring the finger tips so they lie on the tips of the shoulders. Retain this position while you rotate the shoulders in every direction, going forward and then backward. You can repeat this exercise many times a day without changing your position.

Sea Legs Are No Doubt A Decided Asset—BUT!

By Olive Roberts Barton

How quick we are to criticize the rich who won't help their poor relations!

I know! It's a bit difficult to be grubbing along, robbing Peter to pay Paul, while under Uncle Charley's or Aunt Molly's hearthstone there reposes a snug pot of gold.

We lie awake nights thinking about that pot of gold when, if we'd spend the same time thinking about changing our system of living, or managing, it might bring more profitable results.

Even without results, it is not as harmful as thinking about some one's money that might help us, and which we know isn't going to help us. There isn't anything quite as discouraging as thinking about the help one doesn't get.

I've broadcast my hobby about what I should do if I had money until I think my friends are tired of hearing it. Here it is. I should like to take a satchel and fill it with hundred dollar bills and go from door to door and inquire politely, "Does any young couple live here who have children and who are worried about money matters? If so, will you tell me just how much you need to give you a fresh start in the world? I'd be so happy to give it to you, and a couple of hundred more to salt down for a damp day."

But, of course, if I did so, I should be flying directly in the face of all logical progress, I am told. That I would be unmaking citizens instead of making them, and creating pauperism. My mind says "yes". My heart says "no".

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Stewed dried peaches, cooked cereal, thin cream, codfish balls, crisp fry toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Vegetable soup, raisin bread and butter sandwiches, fig tapioca pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Broiled porterhouse steak, mashed potatoes, French fried onions, stuffed pear salad, whole wheat rolls, banana cream pie, milk, coffee.

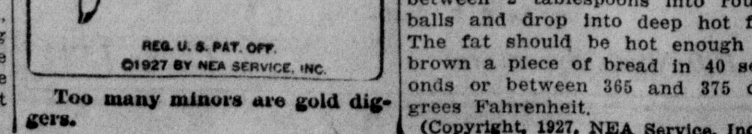

The vegetable soup planned for luncheon is made very hearty with all sorts of vegetables cut in small neat dice. Beef broth is used and onions, potatoes, carrots, tomatoes, turnips and finely shredded cabbage are added. The vegetables requiring the longest period for cooking are put into the broth first, the others added according to the time needed to cook them.

Codfish Balls

One cup shredded salad codfish, 2-3 cups potatoes cut in dice, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 egg, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Soak fish, skin side up, in cold water over night. In the morning, drain and pick in half-inch pieces, removing skin and bones. Measure fish. Pare potatoes and cut in inch dice. Put fish and potatoes into sauce pan and pour over enough boiling water to barely cover. Boil 20 minutes. Drain and shake over the fire. Mash fish and potatoes together in the hot sauce pan. Mash until the mixture is perfectly smooth. Season with pepper and butter and beat in egg well beaten. Shape between 2 tablespoons into rough balls and drop into deep hot fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 40 seconds or between 365 and 375 degrees Fahrenheit.

THE OLD WAY AND THE NEW

In olden days, the world was prim, precise, correct and neat and trim. The children never spoke a word, but were occasionally seen in little garments, starched and clean.

They never sat at table then. Beside the women and the men or listened to their elders chat. Because they were too young for that.

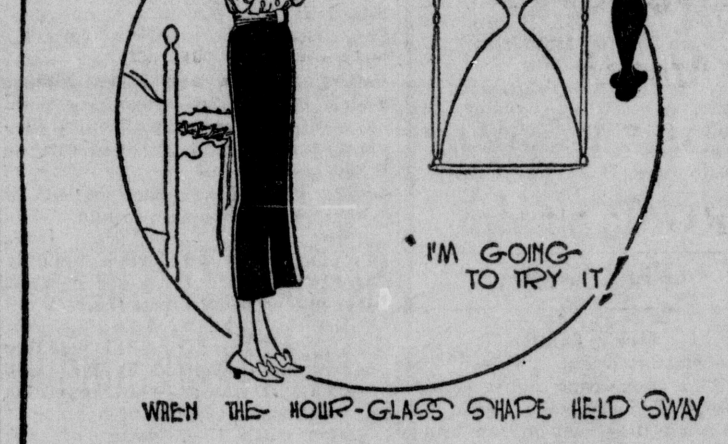

Fearful lest they should come to sin Wise parents kept the young shut in.

They never were permitted out To learn what life is all about. The little ones, then it was thought, By proper persons should be taught.

Perhaps it was not understood That even children can be good. Yet I have heard despite this care Some old-time children learned to swear. Despite this good old-fashioned way Some model youngsters went astray. Though trained by methods most correct Some lives by sin were sadly wrecked.

I choose to have my children near Where they can see and also hear. I much prefer the modern way Of letting youngsters have their say. I'll teach by love and not by fright And trust them both to do what's right.

Queer Quirks of NATURE.

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.

No other flower native to our country is so closely associated with the early fathers as this modest little pink and white trailing arbutus.

The legislature of Massachusetts chose the arbutus, or, as it is called in New England, "the mayflower," as the state flower of Massachusetts.

Perhaps no one loves the arbutus as the residents of the cold northern states, especially New England, who, after a long and cold winter, associate the first glimpse of the arbutus with the promise of spring after the rigors of an intensely cold winter.

And so to the New Englander and to all the people of our country where the arbutus blossoms, we make the plea to preserve this wonderful trailing plant from destruction. Do not in the zest of finding great bunches of these sweet waxen flowers pull them up by the roots.

In many parts of New England where the arbutus used to flourish it is no longer to be found. People who claimed to "love" the blossoms tore them up by the roots regardless of future spring-times. If this practice is continued after a while the trailing arbutus will be only a fragrant memory.

It is a plant which, although it braves intense cold, does not bear transplanting and the only place we will ever find it is in deep woods or forests, under dead leaves or pine needles.

ORANGE COUNTY MAY LOSE OUT ON P.-T. A. MEET

Possibility of Orange county losing its place, designated as "Play Day," on the entertainment program arranged for the delegates and visitors to the state convention of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, to be held the first week of June in Los Angeles, loomed today when it became known in local P.-T. A. circles that the Fifth District, comprising Riverside and San Bernardino counties, is making a bid for the entertainment of the convention visitors on June 2, the date set aside for the "Orange County Play Day and Sightseeing Trip."

According to word received from Los Angeles, it is the desire of the convention committee that the Fourth (Orange county) and the Fifth (Riverside and San Bernardino counties) join hands in entertaining the convention delegates and visitors, on June 2.

While Orange county P.-T. A. executives are willing to co-operate with the Fifth district in entertaining the convention visitors, fear is felt that the proposal will eliminate Orange county from the program. Attention is called to the fact that the greater number of the guests will be out-of-state visitors, delegates to the national convention in Oakland, May 21-23, who will come to Los Angeles following the meet in the northern city. If the sightseeing trip is routed by way of Pasadena, the Foothill Boulevard, San Bernardino, and Riverside, with stops at the Mission Inn, Smiley Heights and other sightseeing places, the entire day will be practically consumed before the visitors will reach Orange county. It is pointed out by the Orange county Play Day committee.

HOLD MESA MAN TO ANSWER FOR PISTOL WOUND

The slightly bloody outcome of a two-year-old neighborhood feud, which culminated when John Cunningham, middle-aged carpenter at Costa Mesa, shot his younger neighbor, R. S. Erba, proprietor of a neighborhood grocery store, was aired in Justice Kenneth E. Morrison's court yesterday when Cunningham was held to answer to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

The court room was filled with neighbors of the warring pair and interest in the feud was at such a high pitch that Justice Morrison was forced several times to rap for order.

Testimony at the hearing showed that Cunningham had gone to Erba's home, next door, finding Erba in his garage, and after a few preliminary skirmishes, had wound Erba in the left hand with a pistol bullet. In court, yesterday, Cunningham explained that he was trying to shoot a hammer out of Erba's hand, Erba having seized the implement when a melee impended.

Erba claimed that Cunningham reaching his garage, had cursed Erba with much gusto for leaving some empty crates extending across the property line. Then, according to the witness, Cunningham chased Erba around the Erba automobile, finally drawing a pistol. Erba said he threatened to call the sheriff, whereupon Cunningham remarked:

"I'll fill you full of holes."

Cunningham then started home, Erba said, but changed his mind and came back. Erba then seized the hammer and Cunningham shot.

According to Cunningham and his wife, the shooting was prefaced by a long series of annoyances from Erba. They objected when he built a six-foot fence around his property. They said he broke down their geraniums and dug a ditch which caused water to back up on their ground.

Mrs. Cunningham testified that whenever she went into the yard Erba would stare at her and "make funny noises."

Deputy District Attorney Roy V. Shafer conducted the prosecution of Cunningham, who was defended by Attorney George Scovel.

SABBATH TEACHERS TO ATTEND SCHOOL

The necessity for and value of religious education was discussed last night by W. C. Pearce, Los Angeles, general secretary of the Southern California Council of Religious Education, and Edgar Lloyd Smith, also of Los Angeles, who spoke before the men and women who were gathered at the First Presbyterian church for a district inter-denominational church conference.

Following the addresses by Pearce and Smith, it was decided that an inter-denominational school of instruction for Sunday school teachers, to be directed by an instructor from Los Angeles, would be held here in the spring. Plans were also made for a vacation Bible school course.

Rev. L. Harter, pastor of the United Brethren church, was appointed head of a committee to arrange for future meetings of the conference.

Other problems facing various churches throughout the county were considered and it was announced that they would be discussed at a later meeting.

Court Notes

Wife Charges Desertion
Desertion was charged in a divorce complaint filed late yesterday in superior court by G. T. Hatfield, of Fullerton, against Mrs. Iva Hatfield. Attorney Leonard Evans, of Anaheim, represents the plaintiff. The Hatfields were married at San Bernardino in 1916 and separated at Fullerton September 1, 1925. They have no children.

Would Probate Will
A $35,000 estate left by the late Elizabeth Gilbert Dunstan, of Tustin, was willed to her son, John Dunstan, for his lifetime, to be distributed at his death equally between three grandchildren, Gilbert, Mary and Frances Dunstan. This was shown today when John Dunstan filed a petition in superior court to probate the will. Attorneys Charles D. Swanner and former Judge R. Y. Williams represent the petitioner. The estate includes $1293.12 in cash and a 15-acre ranch.

CHARGES AUTO TRAVELLED AT 70 MILE CLIP

The fastest speeder booked in Orange county for many months is due to appear before Judge Jack Landell at San Juan Capistrano this week, according to a report on file at the office of the state traffic office. He is H. J. Robinson, of the West Coast theater in Los Angeles. Robinson is charged with speeding 70 miles per hour. He was arrested by State Traffic Officer Floyd Yoder.

Just what fine Robinson will draw down in the Capistrano court is a matter of speculation. Robinson will be the fastest speeder ever to face Judge Jack Landell, and according to reports Landell may decide to slow Robinson up by placing him in the Orange county jail.

Jack Mabey Santa Ana automobile dealer, who was arrested Sunday on the state highway near San Juan Capistrano, will also face Landell on a charge of speeding. Mabey was traveling 65 miles per hour according to the arresting officer. It was reported that Mabey would appear before Judge Kenneth Morrison, but investigation showed the officer had cited Mabey to San Juan Capistrano.

FULLERTON MAN SEEKS DIVORCE

Archie A. McCormick, prominent Fullerton resident, filed suit in superior court late yesterday for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Chlnessa McCormick. His complaint alleged cruelty.

The plaintiff's bill of particulars recites that, on November 15, 1926, Mrs. McCormick threatened to kill her husband. Beyond the bare statement, no details of the incident were set forth. On January 21, this year; also on January 22, Mrs. McCormick remained away from her home all night, her husband charged. From January 22 to January "41," she was alleged to have been out until 1:30 or 2 a. m. During the last year she failed to provide meals for her husband, he charged.

The McCormicks were married in Fullerton, February 14, 1912, and separated at Fullerton, according to the divorce complaint, on February 13, 1927, the day before their 15th wedding anniversary.

They have two children, Harry, 13, and Mildred, 8, custody of whom is sought by their father. Attorneys Allen and Lyon represent him.

This year the United States will allow 164,667 immigrants to enter the country.

A GREAT many cases of this dread disease develop from neglected colds. That's why medical science says: "To avoid a big cold, stop a little one."

For checking all colds promptly, the following approved treatment has been found effective in millions of cases: (1) A day's rest. (2) A laxative. (3) A light diet. (4) Vicks rubbed on throat and chest.

Vicks medicated vapors, released by the body heat, are inhaled direct to the air passages; at the same time Vicks acts like a poultice, drawing out the soreness and pain. Use this treatment at the first sign of every little cold and big colds will be almost unknown to you.

DIRECTORS OF COUNTY FAIR VOTE TO INCREASE PREMIUM LIST; ENLARGE TENT SPACE

Encouraged by the fine support given last year, directors of the Orange County Fair association, at a dinner meeting at the fair grounds, last night, with committee members and department heads, initiated steps to make the 1927 fair superior to that of 1926.

Decision was made to add $1500 to the premium list for the agricultural and livestock departments, to increase the total tent space by 10,000 square feet and selection was made of the American Indian as the decorative motif.

The agricultural department, headed by George Kellogg, will have more classes and the premium awards will be double that of the previous year. Featuring this division will be a subtropical display of fruits arranged by the extension service of the state university under the direction of Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor.

In the live stock division, directed by John Ragan, of Villa Park, another class has been added and certain increases made which will bring the live stock division of the fair up to par with live stock divisions in other fairs of the state. According to J. R. Hunt, secretary and manager of the association, the increased prizes and classifications will give the local fair a standing second to none.

Otto Haan, representing the automobile men of the county on the board of directors, asked for a duplication of one of the tents in the auto show at Los Angeles, and his request will be complied with. Haan said if present plans are carried out, the automobile department of the fair will eclipse anything of the character ever held in the county. The auto show tent will be cleverly decorated and conveniently arranged. The floor will be completely covered with burlap and roofing paper.

The United Tent and Awning company, Los Angeles, was awarded the contract for supplying the tents, the tops this year to have 130,000 square feet, or 10,000 more than last year. A brand new tent will be placed for the school, culinary and canning, art, historical and antiques and women's departments. The tent will be under the general supervision of Mrs. A. P. Nelson, Santa Ana. These departments, it was pointed out, in the past, had no definite head, the displays being scattered promiscuously throughout the other exhibits.

The Allen company, Hollywood, was awarded the contract for decorating the tents. Under the Indian motif, the feature tent will be a riot of Indian decorations. The Santa Ana Printing company was given the contract for printing the 1927 premium list.

"The 1927 fair is going to be the best ever," Harry A. Locke, president, said today, in commenting on actions by the board last night. "Fully half of our space is tentatively reserved and many of our larger contracts have been signed. The 25 department heads have been putting in some strenuous efforts and we are nearly ready to go to press with our premium list. Orange county residents will witness the greatest fair they have ever had the privilege of sponsoring. This looks to us like a big year."

Ted Craig, of Brea; T. B. Talbert, of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. W. H. Thomas, Santa Ana, were added to the directorate.

DISARMAMENT PLAN TAKEN UP BY COMMISSION

GENEVA, March 16.—The disarmament sub-commission "B" of the League of Nations convened here today to complete the final preparation necessary to permit the drafting of an international disarmament convention.

The meeting is the last one of the league's various disarmament commissions and sub-commissions preceding the plenary session of the preparatory disarmament commission on March 21, when in addition to actually drafting the league's international disarmament convention, it also will take up President Coolidge's proposal for a five-power agreement limiting naval armaments.

Sub-Commission "B" which convened today is charged with the economic aspects of the disarmament question. It is composed of the same states represented on the plenary preparatory commission and which include Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, England, Bulgaria, Chile, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Serbia, Holland, Rumania, Spain, Sweden, the United States and Uruguay.

Spain and Brazil, as a result of their withdrawal from the league, did not have delegates present.

When the sub-commission finally hands in its report, the last word will have been said in the league's preparation for a disarmament conference, which now has been in steady and almost continuous progress by various commissions and sub-commissions for nearly a year. It will be up to the full preparatory disarmament commission when it meets next week to co-ordinate all of the reports that have been prepared by the various commissions and sub-commissions, on the military, naval, aerial, economic, financial and industrial aspects of disarmament and draft from the league's final convention.

The preparatory disarmament commission reserved for itself the right to take all decisions of a political nature relative to disarmament and these also will be embodied in the final convention. Once the latter is finally drafted it will be submitted to all of the governments of the world for their observations and finally an international disarmament conference will be summoned for the purpose of putting it into effect.

The commission which met today had still only two questions whereon to make a report before completing its work. This will be done before the full preparatory commission meets on March 21.

The first of these questions is whether, in an effort to limit the aerial armaments of a country, it is either possible or advisable to seek to limit the civil aviation. The importance of this question lies in the ease and quickness with which the civil aviation of any country can be transformed for military purposes.

At the result of a report already prepared on the subject by a commission of aviation experts, which met in Brussels, it is practically certain the sub-commission will report that civil aviation cannot be limited as an element in disarmament.

The second question before the commission is that of establishing a basis for the comparison of national defense and armament budgets of all nations so that a basis of limitation of armaments might be attained by merely limiting the armament budgets of each country.

The sub-commission will have before it the report of a commission of experts, which met recently in Paris and which drew up a model budget, as well as a list of certain line expenditures which might serve as a basis of comparison and reduction for all countries.

Steam spray is now being used by paper hangers to remove old wall paper.

Pigeons in search of gravel are damaging the masonry of some of London's public buildings.

LONDON, March 16.—Intrepid and alone, one of the world's most interesting and unusual women is returning from England to her adopted home in the South Seas, the London papers report.

Several months every few years in the mother country—then, amply satisfied by a brief contact with civilized society, this woman explorer, novelist and seeker of the bizarre and thrilling, sails the seas again to her haven in the Pacific. Such is the way of Miss Beatrice Grimshaw.

"When the true adventure comes along the road you don't go back to tell."

These are the modest and misleading words of Miss Grimshaw, who has been "telling" England about her adventures in person since last October and has "told" a great deal more in story-book form. Her meaning, it may be surmised, is that no truly great adventure has come her way. But to most of us the experiences of this woman would surpass all of the wildest adventures ever seen in our dreams.

Among People's of New Guinea
Off the beaten track in all parts of the globe, but particularly among the Melanesian peoples of New Guinea, Miss Grimshaw has made her solitary way, encountering adventure at every new port or turn of the trail. Perhaps it is all due to her birth on that adventurous island of Erin, in County Antrim, at Cloona. Or that it may have grown from the writing urge which inspires young people the world over to seek experiences that they may tell others. Especially "adventure," which she has never found.

But Miss Grimshaw believes that adventure can be told by a second person very nicely, for the second person may polish off the corners and embellish the facts of the case until the product is far more thrilling than the original. That is what she has done with her own life. Living the "near-adventures" first and then retouching them into the real article later.

Delight in Visiting Intriguing Spots

Her education was acquired in the British Isles, first at Victoria college, Belfast, and later at Bedford college, London. Then came her peregrinations. She seems to delight in visiting those intriguing spots which the atlas presents to us as blank portions of blue, pink, yellow or whatever color the map-maker happened to pick for a particular country.

Fiji, the Canary Islands, New Hebrides, the Solomon Islands, New Britain, Borneo, Celebes, Burma, Java, New Zealand, Australia, Straits Settlements, Sicily and Morocco; these are the localities she frequented. But New Guinea won her over them all, and her present address is Rona Falls Cottage, via Sapphir Creek, Port Moresby, Papua.

Before Port Moresby was built Miss Grimshaw lived a great part of the time on a houseboat, which floated upon three big Melanesian war canoes. In selecting a place to moor her boat, she at first placed it in a bay known to the natives as the midnight haunt of alligators. She, being new to the locality, knew nothing of this. The houseboat was reached from shore by a long walk across a sandy beach and then up a gangplank.

Learning of the gators, which became apparent the first night she was there, through the peculiar musty odor common to them, Miss Grimshaw decided to stick it out, and used a bright lantern at night to enable her to walk from the beach to her boat. This served the purpose of keeping the reptiles away. But one night, as she lay in bed, the alligator odor became particularly offensive. A bumping noise beneath the bed bore out her worst fears. One of the huge creatures had crawled between the canoes and was directly under the thin plank.

40 ET 8 HOLDS HIGH JINKS ON SATURDAY NEXT

The first annual high jinks of the Orange county voiture, No. 527, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, will be held Saturday night at the Orange county fair grounds, on the state highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim, beginning at 8 o'clock. Correspondant Marc Todd announced.

Charles Van Wyk and J. W. Caldwell are in charge of the program arrangements. A number of vaudeville numbers have been scheduled and refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Ed Struble. No business will be transacted, the entire being given over to amusement, Todd said. Representatives from all Southern California voitures have been invited to attend. Each member of the county voiture is entitled to bring one member of the American Legion and a personal friend who need not be affiliated with either organization, it was announced. Admittance will be by card only.

The purpose of inviting the American Legion men is to acquaint them with the purposes and activities of the fun branch of their organization, Todd explained.

GARDEN GROVE BOY LOSES HIS LICENSE

The name of Ralph H. Schnitzer, Garden Grove, appears in the list of names of 77 motorists whose automobile licenses were revoked by the motor vehicle division during January and February for various violations of the motor vehicle law. The license of the Garden Grove boy was revoked at the request of his parents, according to the statement issued today by the division. Recaptulation by Frank G. Snook, chief of the division, reveals that driving while intoxicated led all other causes for license cancellation, 36 persons losing their right to drive in the public highway because of this charge. Eight others were deprived of their cards because abstracts filed with the division showed they had been convicted three or more times of reckless driving, or speeding, last year. The licenses of nine minors were cancelled at the request of parents or guardians. Eleven others were taken up by the lower courts for various offenses. Five were deprived of their licenses for six months and one for four months.

WILHELM TO WRITE TWO MORE BOOKS

BERLIN, March 16.—Former Emperor William II is so happy to be a success at last as an author that he has confided to friends that he will write at least two more books. His first literary endeavor, which appeared under the title, "The Kaiser's Memoirs," was a failure. While the publisher's price of the book was $6, it can be bought now from any street vendor or rentage book shop for 10 cents.

The sale of his recent autobiographical work, "Pages From My Life, 1859-1888," he exceeded all expectations. In it he speaks with great candor of his relations with his English mother and his father and his granddaughter, Emperor William I, and corroborates the theory that his childhood experiences embittered him against England and the whole world.

Leading book sellers report that they have been unable to supply the demand, as many copies are being sent to the United States. The ex-kaiser is said to be extremely proud of his success and will continue the story of his life in the near future.

that constituted the floor of the houseboat! That was too much, and the next day she moved the boat to another spot.

Crew of Cannibals Clears Land

Then came the establishment of a plantation at Papua, which meant that several hundred acres of land must be cleared. Miss Grimshaw had taken numerous trips back-country among the cannibals of the island, and found them remarkably docile as far as she was concerned. She picked a crew of these fellows to clear her plantation for her. They were sent down from the Mambarum river country, and immediately presented a problem. Such labor is far different from that obtainable in civilized countries. How was she to make them work? These husky black men-eaters had to be bossed with a strong hand, or nothing would be done.

Miss Grimshaw carried the thing through by sheer bluff. To carry a revolver openly when she inspected the work of her cannibal crew was to show fear, and that she avoided. The men were all equipped with long knives and axes to cut the brush and trees with, but this white woman went among them fearlessly. The nearest white men were on another plantation two miles away. She carried a revolver concealed in her dress only once, and that after one of the cannibals had made an attempt to strike her with a knife.

She has been chased by a shark when swimming in the clear, warm waters of the Pacific; has braved the dangers of those same depths in a diver's suit, and has penetrated time and again into country "forbidden" to the whites by the savage cannibal tribes.

Within fourteen miles of London the Kentish village of Downe has neither gas nor electricity, no sewer, no doctor, no movie, no bus or street car.

Bandits Rob Man Sick In Hospital

KANSAS CITY, March 16.—Two bandits abandoned their usual haunts here to rob a patient in a hospital. A nurse said she showed the men to Neal's room after admonishing them that they could not stay long as visiting hours were nearly over. They agreed.

Charles W. Neal, of Tulsa, Okla., listed as suffering from a heart ailment, told police two men appeared at his bed and covered him with a pistol. They took a ring valued at $1000 and a watch.

RICKARD SIGNS CALLAHAN

NEW YORK, March 16.—Mushy Callahan, California junior welterweight, who made his eastern debut with a two-round knockout of Andy Divoli, has been offered a contract for three more appearances for Tex Rickard and probably will accept. Rickard is considering Ace Hudkins for one match and a return bout with Divoli.

PLANS HALTED TO BUILD TWO NEW BRIDGES OVER HIGHWAY

Channel in San Juan Creek At Serra Is Changed by Waters During Big Storm

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD NEXT FRIDAY

Highway Commissioners to See Members of County Road Department in L. A.

With flood waters of the storm of a few weeks ago changing the location of the channel in San Juan creek at Serra, plans for construction of two bridges across the creek to connect the south coast highway with the old coast highway to San Diego have been halted temporarily. It was announced today by Nat. H. Neff, superintendent of county highways.

A conference of property owners in the vicinity, representatives of the highway commission and the county road department will meet at the Los Angeles office of the highway commission Friday forenoon to give consideration to the situation created by the flood.

The contract has been let to the Steffen Construction company, builder of the Chapman street bridge, for the construction of two bridges over San Juan creek, and work was to have started at once. The bid for the two structures approximated $63,000.

Flood waters went over into the old channel on the east side of the creek and changed the lay of the land. The conference Friday will deal with the problem of whether it would be best to confine the waters to one channel and construct one bridge or proceed with the plan to construct two bridges.

It is the opinion of some concerned with the work that building of pile and wire protection along the banks to throw the water into one central stream and the construction of one bridge would offer the best and most permanent solution to the problem. Should the one bridge be built, it will be longer than the combined length of the proposed two bridges. Building of the bridges is a county charge, but construction will be under the supervision of the engineering department of the highway commission.

The state commission has issued a call for bids for grading and surfacing 134 miles of highway to complete connection of the south coast highway and the old coast highway. It is the last gap in the coast line state highway in Orange county. Bids are to be opened in Sacramento on April 11. The work will be financed from the third state highway fund.

COLLEGE ADONIS

Gerald Twist, Santa Ana youth, was chosen the Adonis of the Santa Ana junior college by the votes of the girls in a contest just concluded.

GERALD TWIST PRETTIEST LAD AT JR. COLLEGE

The Adonis of the Santa Ana junior college is Gerald "Pete" Twist, football and track star and now the college shell.

So the results of the balloting decided.

A close contest was held among 11 candidates for the beauty honors and when the check on the vote was made today it was found that Twist had won the male beauty honors.

The "hard luck" king has had a turn of good fortune. Perversely twisted Twist in his athletic career, but it appears that the favor of the god of beauty is trying to make amends. Twist, as the most handsome man at the college has become quite popular among the co-eds.

Twist did not seek the beauty honors. The college Adonis is of the athletic type. The popularity of the athlete with admiring co-eds was proven by the results of the contest. All of the high ranking "beauties" were football warriors. Second place was won by Henrik Van Rensselaer and third by David Ross. The distinctly shell type was at the bottom of the list.

The contest was under the direction of the Associated Women Students. Funds derived from the contest are to be devoted to meeting the expenses of the St. Patrick's dance, Saturday evening, for which the co-eds make the date.

College co-eds, while the contest was on, solicited votes for their favorites.

At the close of the contest, the halls about the "shrine of beauty" were thronged with students interested in learning the outcome. The lead was held at times by Van Rensselaer and then by David Ross, but at the close Twist held the lead and was awarded the beauty palm.

The contest was conducted along the same lines as the one recently held under auspices of the Brotherhood of Bachelors to select the prettiest college girl. This contest was won by Miss Sara Hales.

P.-T. A. NOT TO TAKE PART IN SCHOOL BALLOT

County Head Urges All Members to Vote But Not To Endorse Candidates

Should Parent-Teacher associations take an active part in the coming school elections in the county? Should they as bodies of organized voters endorse certain candidates, or affiliate themselves with particular groups in an effort to influence the election of certain candidates?

Answers to these and similar questions are contained in a letter addressed to Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of the Santa Ana City Federation of the P.-T. A. by Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, Garden Grove, president of the Fourth (Orange county) District organization. The letter is a reply to a query submitted by Mrs. Spangler as to whether or not Parent-Teacher associations should take an active part in the coming school elections.

While Mrs. Kelsey takes the stand that no particular candidate should be endorsed by a P.-T. A. organization, she believes, nevertheless, that each and every member of the P.-T. A. should go to the polls and vote for the man or woman who, in the voter's opinion, will work for the best interests of the schools.

In her reply to the Santa Ana official, Mrs. Kelsey refers to a recent statement of the national president, having a direct bearing on the subject.

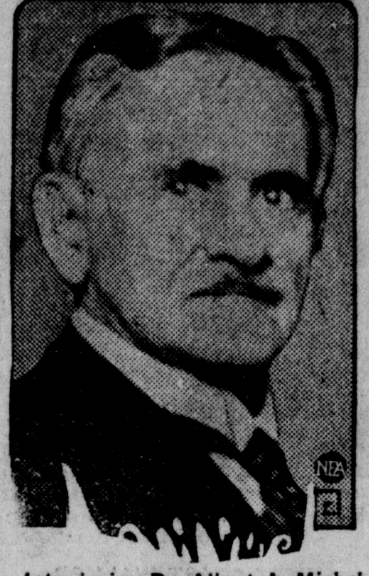

Her letter follows in part: "The time will soon be here when we shall have before us the biggest civic task we have to perform, that of choosing the men and women who shall not only spend our school taxes but shall also determine the policies which shall govern the welfare of the thousands of children who are enrolled in the public schools of the county."

"Enclosed you will find a copy of a letter read at our Fourth District executive board meeting. This letter is from the national president, Mrs. A. H. Reeve, and deals with the question of political activity on the part of Parent-Teacher associations in school elections."

Following is the letter of the national president: "The policy of the National Congress as decided by the Board of Managers, which includes all the state presidents, is as follows: We believe decidedly that our members should take an active part in bringing about better conditions both educational and local, but that they should not do it as a Parent-Teacher association—that is, the Parent-Teacher association should be used as a forum to discuss both sides of a question—never only one side—and then we believe that all members should be urged to go out and vote in their personal capacity. This produces exactly the same effect on the election that would be produced by the association voting under its name, but it avoids all possibility of entanglements, and the line between school politics and what might be called political politics is a very thin one. The reason for this decision is, I think you will agree, a sound one. Suppose, for instance, that two men were run-

CLUB MEMBERS WILL WORK AT FOREST HOME

A number of members of the Santa Ana Exchange club will go to Forest Home the afternoon of Saturday, March 26, for the purpose of working on the camping site of the city of Santa Ana.

The city has acquired a lease right to 11 acres of ground within a short distance of the main center of Forest Home and contemplates improving it so that Santa Ana residents may use the grounds. The land is in its raw state and the first step to make it available will be the establishment of roads leading to the tract from the main highway. A culvert is necessary and the club proposes doing the work necessary to put in the culvert.

Details of the visit to the resort and the work to be done were left to a committee headed by City Attorney Charles Swanner. Other members of the committee are Dr. John Wehrly and Stanley Clem.

Rolla R. Hays Jr. was program chairman and, as special features, introduced Bob Wolf, director of entertainment at the Walker-West Coast theater, in violin numbers, accompanied at the piano by Irvin Doyle, and P. Hoy has discussed the subject of "Human Engineering" before three of the local luncheon clubs.

COUNTY GRANTS ROAD PETITION AT COSTA MESA

Protest by Property Owners in District Affected Overruled by Supervisors

Overruling a protest from a group of property owners affected, the county supervisors late yesterday granted a petition asking for formation of an improvement district, to pave Eighteenth street and Fairhaven avenue, Costa Mesa.

The board will shortly call for bids upon the paving contract, it was announced.

The supervisors' chamber was filled with Costa Mesa and Newport Beach residents who own property in the proposed district. Opponents of the proposal objected on the ground that a full-width, 56-foot paving would be unnecessary and too great a burden upon the "small" property owner.

Others strongly advocated the paving. Included among these was Lew H. Wallace and J. P. Greeley, of Newport Beach, and others, who declared the paving would be worth more than it cost. Wallace said he expected to subdivide frontage on Eighteenth street and that it would cost only about $300 per lot for the paving.

Another advocate of the paving project stated that he understood that James Irvine contemplated creation of a "million-dollar" subdivision along the harbor shore line, and that the Eighteenth street paving would link Costa Mesa and Newport avenue to such a subdivision.

The hearing started at the morning session of the board, and was then put over until 2 p. m. when the board decided to grant the petition and form the district.

$399,000 Paving Job at Placentia Is Let by County

Award of the contract for paving outlined in plans for the new improvement district recently formed was made late yesterday by the county supervisors to the Griffith company, at a figure of $399,000. This was the lowest of four bids submitted on the contract.

The paving plans are said to cover virtually all principal streets in and near Placentia.

Bible Study Class At Y on Thursday

The Y.M.C.A. Men's Bible study club will meet this week on Thursday evening at 6:15, according to T. J. Hunter, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Dinner will be served promptly at 6:15 and the session will close at 7:15 sharp.

Dr. J. P. Greene, noted Bible student and educator, now living in this city, has been secured to lead the discussion for Thursday. His subject is "Making the Christ Ideal Practical."

All men are invited to attend this meeting. Those who wish to take dinner at the Y.M.C.A. are requested to make reservations in advance so that necessary preparations may be made for food supplies. Those who wish to attend the study, but not the dinner, should come about 6:30.

This Bible study meeting, according to Hunter, is for all men of the community, regardless of whether they are members of the Y.M.C.A., and the invitation is limited only to the extent of asking for advance notice from those who will attend the dinner.

Y CLASSES TO GIVE WAY FOR INDOOR CIRCUS

All gymnasium classes, including those of advanced and specialized grades, at the Y. M. C. A. for Thursday and Friday will be omitted on account of the annual indoor circus which is scheduled for those two evenings.

Physical Director R. R. Russick announced today that the swimming pool will be open as usual, and all classes may swim if they like, but the gymnasium, being temporarily converted into an old-fashioned sawdust arena, will not be available for class work on those two days.

This evening, Russick will put his company through a dress rehearsal, and tomorrow, he and his helpers will spend their time in decorating the gymnasium, arranging the bleachers, and in general getting things ready under the "big top" for the evening's performance.

Russick requests that as many people attend on Thursday evening as can possibly do so, since the show will be just as good then as on Friday, and the crowd is always too great for comfort at the Friday evening show. Seats are provided for about 600 people, a small section being reserved at an extra charge to accommodate those who cannot come until late. Reserved seats may be ordered by telephone.

Here is the full program of the circus:

Overture, by the Hi-Y orchestra. The Big Parade, introducing the entire company of 200 performers.

Handy Andy and the High Rollers, presenting the "preps," or younger boys.

Rose of My Heart, by the "prep" girls' class.

Frolic of the Scarecrows, by the Advanced Girls' Class.

Spring Frolics, by the senior gymnasium squad.

The Horse Trainers, by older boys. The Gold Dust Twins.

The Tumble Bugs. Folk Lore, by the intermediate girls' class.

ANNUAL FOREST WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED HERE APRIL 24 TO 30

Stephenson Is Chosen As Chairman with Power to Name Own Committee

RAYMER DISCUSSES GOVERNMENT PLAN

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Points to Significance of Proclamation

Observation of the seventh annual American Forest week, April 24 to 30, in Santa Ana will be directed by T. E. Stephenson, who has been named chairman of the American Forest Week committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, George Raymer, secretary, said today. Stephenson will pick his own committee members and direct their efforts toward informing the public of the importance of reforestation, water conservation and kindred subjects, according to the secretary.

In a proclamation by President Calvin Coolidge, sent out by the U. S. department of agriculture, the week of April 24 to 30 was officially set aside for Forest week, information received by Raymer from Washington shows. A bulletin on the subject goes on to say:

"This year will mark the seventh annual observance of the week, President Harding in 1921 having issued the first proclamation, which brought the federal government behind the movement. Of the numerous weeks observed in the country, this is the only one to which the government of the United States has given recognition and support."

Rehabilitation of Forests "The president proclaimed the 1927 American Forest week 'in the belief that no other of our internal problems is of greater moment than the rehabilitation of our forests, now so hopefully begun, but needing the federal support of our collective will and intelligence.' He emphasized the importance of farm forestry as a means for lessening agricultural surpluses and meeting the problem of agricultural overproduction, and the resulting depression in the farming industry. Regarding the part forestry might play in farm relief, the president said:

"One-fourth of our soil is better suited to timber-growing than anything else. I can not escape the conviction that our industrial and agricultural stability will be strengthened by bringing into full productive use this great empire of land. Although much progress has been made in public forestry and hope for the future in private forestry, we still have a vast aggregate of idle or semi-idle forest land, and another large aggregate of poor farm land that might more profitably grow timber instead of adding to the problem of agricultural overproduction."

"Agriculture would find in timber growing a strong ally, the president said, providing markets for farm produce and for surplus labor."

Canada Joins Observance "American Forest week this year will assume an international scope through the fact that Canada will observe Forest week at the same time. Through the department of state, the Mexican government also has been invited to participate in this year's campaign for the protection, perpetuation and right use of the forests."

"In making public the president's proclamation, Secretary of Agriculture..."

More Questions Are Answered by Richards

Following is the second installment of questions and answers that Richards "The Magician" has given to The Register for anxious people of Santa Ana and this vicinity. By whatever power or force this master of the occult power derives his answers he certainly takes many a personal peep into the domestic and household affairs of the people to whom he makes reply.

RICHARDS

Richards is appearing at the Yost Theatre, ending his engagement Sunday. He gives a matinee at 2:30 o'clock. Friday for ladies only, and he is presenting the most wonderful attraction in this part of the state that has been seen in Santa Ana in years, as he carries two carloads of scenery and elaborate effects, and a half hour show abounds in refreshing comedy, music, illusions, mind reading and novelties. Following is the second installment of answers:

Q. S.—I have lost a package of Kodak films and pictures. Where can I find them?

Ans.—You will find the package among some papers and other periodicals on the under shelf of the large table in your "living room" at home.

Q. H.—Will I get the money that is due me for the past four months?

Ans.—Yes, you will receive $150 of this money on Friday of this week and the balance about two weeks later.

Q. W.—(Huntington Beach) Do you see a change from my present surroundings?

Ans.—Your tentative plans will fully materialize this spring and you will be better satisfied after the change.

J. M.—Is my uncle Lewis still living? Last heard of about six years ago.

Ans.—Your uncle is at present working in a mine at Butte, Mont., and his address is Lincoln Apartments this city.

R. C.—Will our next child be a boy or a girl and about when?

Ans.—Your next and last child will be a girl about the 11th or 12th of September.

M. W.—(Anahiem)—Please advise about small investment in lot in oil district.

Ans.—This will prove to be a profitable investment as development of that section will bring a very satisfactory increase in value of the land.

M. F. B.—Will I marry the boy I am now going with? If so when?

Ans.—Walter will never be your husband. You will marry William J. whom you met at Helen's home about three weeks ago.

L. T.—Where is the cause of the pains in my back? Is it rheumatism and shall I see a doctor or chiropractor?

Ans.—You have kidney trouble and should have proper treatment immediately.

M. L. S.—My husband is thinking of starting in the electrical business. Will he be successful?

Ans.—He will do quite well and I advise him to go right ahead with his plans.

C. T.—Will I get the position I have applied for?

Ans.—Yes, you will be notified of your acceptance tomorrow (Thursday) morning and you will start work next Monday.

G. M.—Where can I find my ruby ring? Was it stolen?

Ans.—Your ring is under the bed in your bed room. Dorothy accidentally knocked it off the dresser and did not know it as several other articles fell at the same time.

This is Mr. Richards' last answer today although other installments of answers will appear in The Register every day this week. If you have not sent a question to Richards, then do so at once, today now! Be sure to sign your correct name and address, but only initials are printed.

Mr. Richards also answers questions at the Yost Theatre on Spurgeon street, during the mental part of his massive big mystery-musical-comedy production which is making a tremendous hit this week as it is the largest, most elaborate and entertaining attraction had at the theater ticket office which will assure a prompt and private answer.—Adv.

TAXIS GATHER MUCH CASH IN RACE TO PUBS

LONDON, March 16.—London is all lopsided when it comes to drinking hours in the pubs. In some boroughs the public houses must close at 10 at night, while across the street, in an adjacent borough, the pubs do not close until 11 o'clock.

In Paddington, Marylebone, St. Pancras and Finsbury, where the 10 o'clock closing hour is the rule, taxicabs are in great demand when the pub ceases serving drinks and there is a race for the different saloons in nearby boroughs where the regulations allow an hour longer.

The taxi drivers are paid extra fares for fast driving by the patrons, who value their time according to liquid consumption.

The Church of England Temperance society favors uniformity of hours—uniformity of the shortest and not the longest hours—and therefore has come out for closing at 10 p. m. in all the boroughs.

The Temperance Council of the Christian Churches assumes the same view and has taken a hand in a fight against longer hours in Kensington, Newington and Wandsworth, where the pub owners are petitioning for an extension until 11 o'clock.

Temperance workers do not blame the taxicab drivers for taking advantage of the situation nor the publicans, but put the onus on the drinkers themselves, who, they contend, should be able to get all the refreshments required in the eight or nine hours daily when the lid is off.

KING SENDS FLOUR TO LONELY ISLAND

LONDON, March 16.—Tristan da Cunha, in the South Atlantic, is the world's loneliest island. The Rev. R. A. C. Pooley and Philip Lindsay, both of Liverpool, are on their way to the island to begin a term of three years' missionary service.

To the lonely isle, where there is no money, no tobacco, no wireless, no shops, only one mail a year and only one wedding ring, which is "loaned" out for each wedding by the missionary, King George is sending half a ton of flour and the queen a consignment of blankets. The only clothes of the inhabitants are those taken there by missionaries.

Lindsay, formerly of Vermont, is 24, but looks only 19, and has already traveled 43,000 miles. He and the Rev. Mr. Pooley will start a school for the children, complete the little church started by the previous minister and set up a wireless broadcasting and receiving set.

They are taking about 1500 pounds of gifts, varying from spoons and forks to golden sirup and insect powder and also twelve gold wedding rings, a wedding dress complete with a spray of orange blossoms, white satin shoes and silk stockings, and a baby's christening shawl.

PASTOR IS HELD ON ALIENATION CHARGE

LONG BEACH, March 16.—A. B. Crowley, of Porterville, and Adolph H. Englehardt, pastor of the First Christian Church of Divine Healing, were being held in the city jail here today pending investigation of charges that the minister had stolen the affections of Crowley's wife.

Crowley was placed in a cell following his attempt, police say, to end his life after charging that Englehardt had prevailed upon Mrs. Agnes Crowley to leave her home in Porterville and act as the pastor's secretary.

Both Mrs. Crowley and Mrs. Englehardt deny the charges made by the former's husband that Mrs. Crowley was held under a spell by Englehardt.

At police headquarters, Crowley pleaded to be "locked in the same cell with Englehardt." When his request was refused, he drew a knife and attempted to kill himself. He was placed in a cell for his own protection.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

Probably the most talked of play of modern times, and beyond a doubt one of the very greatest stage offerings ever presented in Orange county, is "Within the Law," which is playing this week at Murphy's Orana theater.

It is the story of a young girl who is sent to prison three years for a crime she never committed. She "does her time," and comes out with a determination that "society shall pay for the wrong it has done her." She becomes a crook, yet stays "within the law."

She uses brains instead of burlap to do her "jobs," and is successful. In a gripping incident, however, she comes to the realization that the right way to live is the only way to real happiness.

The play is well cast and excellently staged.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

"Evening Clothes," a picture featuring Adolphe Menjou, Virginia Valli, Noah Berry and Louise Brooks, is showing at the Yost Broadway theater.

Several vaudeville numbers also are being presented.

FRANK EGAN DIES IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Funeral services were being arranged here today for Frank Cullen Egan, pioneer theatrical producer, who died here late yesterday, following a cerebral hemorrhage, suffered Monday.

Egan was born in Chicago, in 1873, and opened his first dramatic school in Seattle, where he became associated with John Cort. Later he came to this city and established a school and the theater which bears his name.

He was active in the little theater movement and has many stage successes to his credit.

Many stage and screen stars were developed in the Egan School of Drama.

He is survived by a brother, William F. Egan, Chicago publisher.

Tut Imlay Works In Merced Garage

MERCED, Cal., March 16.—"Tut" Imlay, diminutive former captain of the University of California football team is taking a rest, washing automobiles.

After passing the most strenuous season in his career at welding dollars out of the professional football "pastime," Tut has returned here and is employed in his brother's garage "shining 'em up."

"Let Red Grange have his ice or his movie flappers," Tut said. "I'm going to wash cars to get in shape for next season, providing of course, professional football goes over again next year."

RETIRED NAVY OFFICER PARIS SAUSAGE KING

PARIS, March 16.—The American's longing for the dishes mother used to cook has brought Commander Andrew Jackson Stone, U. S. N., retired, a sizable fortune.

He furnishes Vermont sausages and Bantam corn on the cob for homesick appetites of Americans in France. His business is one of the most successful American enterprises in France.

After the war Stone, realizing that France was short a quarter billion hogs, retired to a little mountain section near Moulins, not far from Paris, and started raising pigs. Today a pedigreed herd of 1500 fat porkers roams the slopes of his 500-acre tract and he not only controls the Vermont sausage and corn-on-the-cob market of France, but is gradually educating French people to a liking for the foreign food.

Pork sausages have been favored for a long time in France. Commander Stone is popularizing Vermont pork sausage.

The French people still have a prejudice against corn. They consider it fit only for pigs and horses. Under American influence some families now use corn as a table vegetable. Certain chic French hostesses who pride themselves on knowing American customs occasionally serve corn on the cob at informal dinners.

A few French families eat what American name and call their newly discovered edible "sweet corn," pronouncing it as Americans would.

Homeward bound Americans can now eat Vermont sausages on the ocean voyage if they want to. Commander Stone furnishes every liner sailing from France with Vermont sausages. He also produces hams, but for them he uses the famous recipe of Bayonne, where the best hams in France are made.

The Stone pigs eat better than any others in France. Their menus of boiled corn and artichokes are the envy of the wild boars in the nearby forests.

SHIPS LOCKED BY ICE AWAIT SPRING ADVENT

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Mich., March 16.—An ice-blocked fleet of 14 steel ships lies deserted, awaiting spring, in the lower channel of the great straits which connect Lake Superior and Lake Huron.

Crews of steam tugs rushed in early winter to the ice-blocked St. Mary's river to release 150 lake freighters. The blockade cost ship owners half a million dollars, and temporarily increase the population of "the Soo" by some two thousand sailors.

But while the tugs were rescuing the steamers locked in the St. Mary's, the lower channel was blocked, and the crews of the vessels made captive there have deserted and scattered, leaving their craft solid in the grip of winter.

Storms which have lashed Lake Superior repeatedly this winter have menaced delayed freighters, prevented protection of a solid formation of the ice and threatened to make derelicts of several of the finest vessels of the lakes. The Clif Bangor, automobile transport, which went aground off Keweenaw peninsula, was hastily lightened recently because waves tore her from her ice lock. The cargo of 140 motor cars was salvaged and driven eight miles across ice to Copper Harbor. Mishaps on the lakes this winter, although taking few lives, have marooned entire crews on the shores of the Upper Peninsula for days.

The City of Bangor's crew was held on the Superior shore for three days, intercepted by dashing waves from food and supplies aboard the grounded vessel. A passing coast guard cutter, bearing the crew of another wrecked ship, sighted the crew and carried it to safety.

A fire was stolen off of an automobile in the private garage at the Joseph Prevost home at 528 East Walnut street, last night, according to a report at the city police station.

Maurice Carroll, 18, and Horton Johnston, 17, were lodged in the Orange county jail last night by State Traffic Officer Floyd Yoder on charges of vagrancy.

Police News

Ernest Osuma, 27, Mexican, of 1029 East Santa Ana avenue, Anaheim, started a 30 day sentence in the Orange county jail today. He was convicted on a charge of being intoxicated, in the Anaheim city court, and was unable to pay a $30 fine, according to reports.

Clinton W. Williams, 16, negro, of 771 East 113th street, Watts, was lodged in the Orange county jail last night by Deputy Sheriff Knight, on a grand larceny charge. Williams is alleged to have stolen an automobile from Orana Sunday night. He will appear before Justice Kenneth Morrison today.

Dick McCormick, 60, of 624 East Fourth street, was fined $100 on a charge of being intoxicated, when he appeared before City Recorder J. F. Talbot today. The fine was not paid.

P.-T. A. NOT TO TAKE PART IN SCHOOL BALLOT

ning for the position superintendent and the Parent-Teacher association, as an organization, decided to campaign for one of them. If their candidate should be defeated the usefulness of the association might be fatally ruined for years to come, because the successful candidate would go into office necessarily under the impression that I had a group of people antagonistic to him inside of his school and therefore the sort of co-operation we need would be killed at the start.

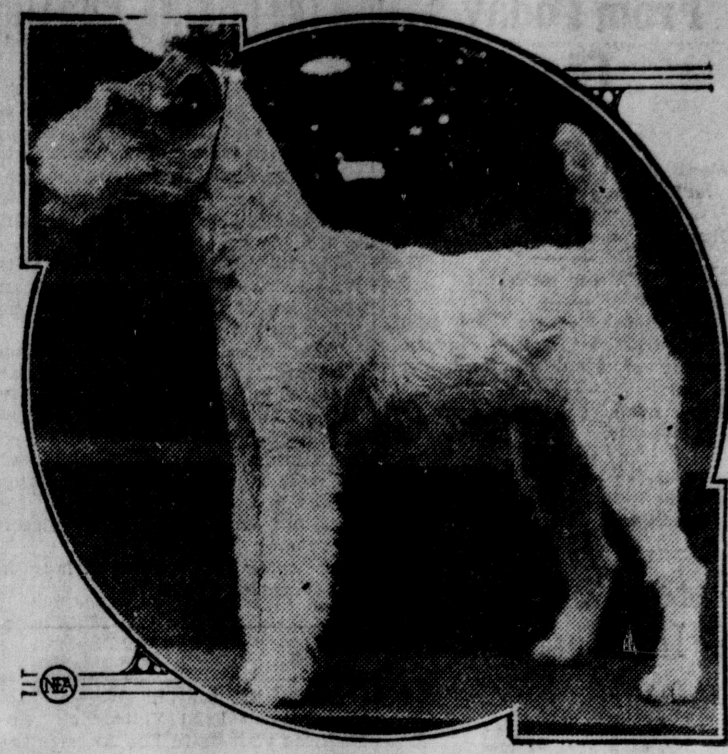

"I hope I have made it clear that we view strongly that members of Parent-Teacher associations should take active part, every one of them, in school elections, that the Parent-Teacher association meeting may be used to discuss what is best for the school, and to urge voters to do their civic duty, while maintaining the freedom of the association from any activity which might be termed 'political.' If this policy is carried out the value of the Parent-Teacher association as a creator of public opinion will always be rate 100 per cent."

Supplementing the observations set forth by the national president, Mrs. Kelsey goes on to say in her letter to Mrs. Spangler: "A Parent-Teacher association should be concerned with all problems relating to the welfare of the child in the home, in the school and in the community; its great and ever present objective should be an interest of all the people in all children, and to link in a common purpose the home, the school, and all other educational and character building agencies in a united endeavor for work for the highest good."

"By close contact with school trustees, superintendents, principals and teachers, a Parent-Teacher association should have first hand information of its schools and conditions surrounding the same."

"As a co-operative adjunct to the schools, a Parent-Teacher association should work actively to supply school and community needs by creating public sentiment favorable to the procurement of good teachers, good equipment and adequate recreational facilities for leisure time."

GOVERNMENT IN ENGLAND WARS ON U. S. MOVIES

LONDON, March 15.—The government is planning shortly to take definite action, by parliamentary law, to compel motion picture houses here to show British films. This will mark the beginning of a determined attack against the American monopoly of the film industry.

The draft of the bill, which will probably be introduced at the present session, has for several months been in the hands of Cinematograph Exhibitors' association, the Kinematograph Renters' society and the Federation of British Industries, represented by a parliamentary committee.

It has been decided that the best way to get British films before the public is to force the renters, or those who supply and distribute pictures to the theaters, to handle a quota of British films, regardless of what merit they may have. As a beginning about 10 per cent of the total number of pictures handled will have to be British, and this quota will be increased when the producers can meet the demands.

Terms Are Defined
The term "British film" is defined as one made by a British-owned and British-controlled company. The studio scenes must, as far as possible, have been taken in a British studio, and three-quarters of the salaries and wages, not including the fees paid to the directors and star, spent on the production must have been paid to persons living in Great Britain. The director and star may be foreigners, which means that American acting and direction may be used.

The burden of rehabilitating British film production will be evenly distributed on renters and exhibitors. The exhibitors have already complained about the prospect of this burden. They tried to impress the Board of Trade that they should be relieved of such responsibilities, but they were not successful. The Board of Trade explained that if the quota was made obligatory only on the renters there would not be the slightest guarantee that the pictures would reach the screen. In other words, it was foreseen that the exhibitors, if not made responsible, would sidetrack the small percentage of home production for the better box office attractions from America.

Easy for Americans
There will not be the slightest difficulty in an American house obtaining its requisite British quota pictures. It can arrange for a corporation here to produce with British money four or five times yearly, which would meet the quota required, guaranteeing the corporation negative cost plus 10 per cent interest and about 50 per cent of the gross takings all over the world.

A half dozen American firms now practically control the market here and they have no intention of allowing it to be isolated out of their hand. If this can be avoided, there appears to be no reason why they cannot open British houses, as many American industries have done, and produce the genuine article over here as British.

School Makes Big Sum on Land Sale

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—An investment of $1500 by the Los Angeles school district in 1875 today had brought a profit of more than 100,000 per cent following confirmation by the California supreme court of sale of the Grand avenue school site to the Capital company, a subsidiary to the Bank of Italy.

The price paid for the property was $1,575.53. The decision ended litigation of more than a year since school officials refused to sign the sales agreement on the ground that the state law governing the case was restricted to districts having a daily student attendance of more than 55,000. The court held that the law does not discriminate between districts in prescribing for the disposition of school property.

Jill was at one time as properly typical a girl's name as Jack may still be reckoned a boy's.

ANNUAL FOREST WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED HERE

Jardine pointed out that special significance is attached to the observance of the week in 1927, in view of the disastrous fire season through which the country passed last summer and of the need for bringing home to the people of the Nation the necessity for adequate protection of the forests. Co-operation between the federal government and the states under the Clarke-McNary act has just got into full swing as well, he said, and 41 states and the territories of Hawaii and Porto Rico are now co-operating with the government in the forest protection and reforestation activities for which the law provides. Thirty states have appointed extension foresters and are co-operating with the government in assisting farmers in the handling of their woodlands.

Frank O. Lowden, Chairman
The week will be directed by an American Forest Week committee, of which Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is chairman. Nearly 100 organizations, representing a wide variety of interests, are co-operating, among them associations representing outdoor, wild life, and recreational interests, forests and forestry associations, the lumber industry, consumers of forest products, labor, scientific, civic, and women's organizations, as well as the state and federal governments. The American Federation of Labor, the Farm Bureau federation, the National Grange, the American Legion, the American Newspaper Publishers' association, the Boy Scouts, and Camp Fire Girls, the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, General Federation of Women's Clubs, Young Women's Christian association, National Catholic Welfare conference, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America are included among the co-operating organizations. Local Forest Week committees are being organized in every state.

FIND ALPENSTOCK AFTER 57 YEARS

PARIS, March 16.—An alpenstock bearing the inscription "Dr. J. Bean"—grim souvenir of an Alpine tragedy nearly 57 years ago—has just been found at the foot of the Bossons glacier, on the side of Mont Blanc.

Dr. Bean, an American, and a Glasgow minister, the Rev. M. G. Corkindale, set out from their hotel at Chamonix, in September, 1870, with eight guides to climb Mont Blanc. They reached the summit, and it was on the descent that disaster overtook them. The thermometer dropped suddenly and a storm sprang up. Blinded by the snow, the party must have lost their way. When the snowstorms abated, a week later, the bodies of McCorkindale, Dr. Bean and three guides were found in the bottom of a crevasse. The other bodies have never been recovered.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MISSING S. D. GIRL

Santa Ana police today are searching for Miss Nellie Marjorie Curtis, 15, of San Diego, who yesterday mysteriously disappeared, after leaving the local Y. W. C. A. presumably to visit the public library.

The girl arrived in Santa Ana day before yesterday and appeared at the Y. W. C. A. and asked for lodging, according to a report filed with local police. She is alleged to have told Y. W. C. A. officials that she was seeking her mother in Santa Ana.

Her mother failed to appear and yesterday morning the girl left the Y. W. C. A. saying she was going to the library to read. She has not been seen since, according to the report.

Police believe the girl has run away from home. Her traveling bag was left at the Y. W. C. A.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS CAUSED BY STORMS

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Storms over the Pacific coast states interfered with outdoor labor activities during the last 30 days with the result that there now is considerable unemployment, but the labor surplus will be absorbed soon by activity on big construction projects, spring opening of the lumber industry and Alaskan salmon fishing operations, according to a survey made public today by the Pacific division of the United States department of labor. In California, supply of all classes of labor continues greatly in excess of demand. Manufacturing activities are on a high level, unemployment is below normal in the lumber industry, building operations show a slight upward trend, and increased demand for labor was noted in the mining industry.

SUSPEND SENTENCE ON ERRING PASTOR

SEATTLE, March 16.—With the Scriptures which he has quoted so often in his sermons still ringing in his ears, the Rev. Willard Russell yesterday started a two months suspended sentence because he fed the mash from his neighbors' still to his hogs.

The minister was tried along with John Spithill and William Sullivan, operators of the still, and all were found guilty.

"The ways of the transgressor are hard," quoted Judge Jeremiah Neterer, in sentencing the Rev. Mr. Russell to report regularly to the prohibition officers during the next two months. "Go and sin no more."

Pastor Russell admitted knowing it was mash he was feeding his hogs, but said he took it because it didn't cost him anything.

The court held he was at fault in not reporting the still.

FIELD DAY FOR CLUB MEMBERS WILL BE HELD

Youthful Agriculturists to Get Assistance from Orange County Bankers

Pursuant to unanimous action taken at the last bi-monthly meeting of the Orange County Bankers' association, held at the Orange County Trust and Savings bank, Santa Ana, President F. L. Almsworth of the organization, has named a committee of three county bankers to arrange a field day in the near future to inspect typical farm units in the county.

The personnel of the committee is Frank Was, First National bank, Santa Ana, chairman; K. V. Wolff, First National bank, Orange, and Horace Benjamin, Bank of Italy, Anaheim. The action was taken following an address by Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor of Orange county, who outlined the activities of the agricultural extension service of the University of California, in its program of work, embracing the four agricultural projects adopted by the California Bankers' association at their 1925 annual convention.

These projects include: Fostering boys' and girls' agricultural clubs, fostering contesting associations, fostering the introduction of purebred sires, fostering the keeping of financial records on farms.

The farm advisor explained to the bankers that in Orange county, 150 rural boys and girls were enrolled in agricultural clubs sponsored by the agricultural extension service. Their projects include poultry raising, rabbits, citrus and avocado nurseries, growing windbreak seedlings and vegetable gardening. Local adult leaders assist in carrying on the work with the ten clubs under supervision of the farm advisor. The young agriculturists are receiving an inspiration and training that will give them a practical and serious insight into the problems and advantages of the farmer.

Referring to the second and third projects that encourage formation of contesting associations and in introduction of purebred stocks, it was pointed out that the dairy department of the Orange County Farm bureau is maintaining one contesting association with a total of approximately 1000 cows at the present time. Since the department was started five years ago, the average butterfat test of the member dairies has materially increased. Practically every herd in the association is headed by a purebred sire, an outstanding accomplishment, when it is remembered that the purebred sire was the exception rather than the rule when the dairy department work was first undertaken in the county by the agricultural extension service.

Farm business analysis and better farm record keeping, the fourth agricultural projects of the State Bankers' association, has also made progress in Orange county, as reported by the farm advisor, K. V. Wolff, cashier of the First National bank, Orange, who has taken an active part in promoting farm record analysis work among the orange growers of his community. During the past year, 40 growers co-operated with the extension service in the study of production costs and for 1927 over 100 growers have started records to facilitate their analyzing their own business at the end of the year.

The bankers received the report enthusiastically and pledged their interest in the improvement and success of the farming industry in their respective districts as reflected in the spread of influence of the constructive work of the extension service.

O. W. Jarvis, of the United Bank and Trust company, of Sacramento, chairman of the agricultural committee of the California Bankers' association, has indicated his official approval of the contemplated Southern members of the state committee who will probably attend are: J. B. Chaffey of the California Bank, Los Angeles, and W. T. Dinsmore, of the Security Savings bank, Riverside.

High School Not Matrimony Bureau

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—"Cupid—Keep out. Students must learn, not love."

This, in effect, was the dictum recently issued by the trustees of College City's union high school. The penalty is banishment from all student activities. And thereby hangs a tale.

Miss Lennie Louise Todd and John Fred Harris, seniors in the school, recently eloped to Sacramento and were married. Then the trouble began. Visions of more couples fleeing altar-ward were seen by school trustees. "This school is not a matrimony bureau," they held, and issued the further order that all married students may not participate or hold office in student activities.

And now everyone is waiting to see if the order will effectively curb the eternal mating impulse of youth.

PLANT EXPLORERS INTRODUCE NEW CROPS FROM OLD WORLD

P. H. Dorsett, left, and his son are examining a Chinese plant they hope to transplant successfully in this country.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Two plant explorers of the United States department of agriculture, P. H. Dorsett and his son, J. H., recently returned to the United States from China with thousands of selections of seeds, bulbs, tubers, scions, cuttings and plants new to this country.

Two and a half years were spent in combing the jungles and other out-of-the-way places, as well as cultivated fields, for any plants, especially fruits and nuts, trees and ornamentals, that might be of value in extending our crops farther north.

A collection of 100 different varieties of soybeans was made in northern Manchuria by the Dorsetts. It has been pronounced the best collection of varieties that has ever reached this country.

High hopes are held that among the new plants will be found some varieties suitable for culture in regions farther north in this country and in other sections where the crop is not grown.

Sixty per cent of our present barley acreage is the result of one introduction from Manchuria. The Dorsetts collected many varieties of barley new to this country.

Of the fruits collected, many are wild and were found growing in the interior in places difficult to reach. The explorers traveled on foot

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Q. I am interested in tropical fruits and would like to know if mangos will grow and fruit in this country. Also, why is it that some mangos will grow and bear fruit, but I have one that does not bear fruit, but it never has any fruit.—L. C. B.

A. The harder varieties of mangos have been grown in this country, although on a very limited scale. This fruit is almost too tropical in its requirements for our relatively cool climate. Experimentally, however, it is being grown and some very warm locations should be chosen, if you wish to try it. Also some means of protection should be afforded the trees when they are young. One or two nurseries in Southern California carry a limited supply of stock.

Cherimoyas have perfect flowers, but the stamens and pistils are borne in the same flower, but these organs do not usually mature at the same time, hence cross pollination with flowers of another tree often is a necessity. If it happens that all the flowers on one tree open at the same time there can be little if any pollination unless pollen is introduced from flowers of another tree. If the flowers open at irregular intervals, some pistils and some stamens, in different flowers, may be mature at the same time, permitting pollination.

Generally speaking it is safer with such fruits as the cherimoya to plant more than one tree, and have in such case a greater likelihood of cross pollination taking place.

Q. Is it the right time to spray peach trees and grape vines? Last year the peach leaves were badly curled and most of the grape vines were mildewed. I am told that both must be sprayed this year.—Mrs. S. P.

A. Give your peach trees a rather strong lime-sulphur spray at or just before the pink bud stage, at which time the buds are well swollen and are just beginning to show color. Use one part of commercial lime-sulphur solution (liquid) to nine or 10 parts of water, or if you use the dry lime-sulphur solution, 12 or 14 pounds of lime-sulphur to 100 gallons of water. Make sure that every part of the top is well covered with the spray.

There is nothing gained by spraying grape vines at this time of year. In fact the reverse is true, as you will lose both your labor and the material applied. The spots of mildew are scattered about the soil and the vineyard, protected during the winter by soot-like containers. These containers do not burst until much later in the spring, or about the time grapes are starting into growth, consequently it is only a waste of time and material to attempt any control until spring growth begins. Begin to sulphur (use finely powdered sulphur dust) when the new shoots are from eight to 12 inches in length and repeat two or three times at two-week intervals. If done thoroughly this should protect you from mildew this summer.

Q. What kind of spray should be used on quince trees? The fruit is infested with worms that bore from the outside, very much like the bean pod borer. Why do healthy, well-cared-for Winter Nells pear trees fail to bear? They bloom profusely and have done so for three years past, but do not set fruit. We also have quite a number of late Bartlett pear trees. The fruit is large and

PLUMBING BILL HAS INTEREST FOR RANGERS

"Farm people will be interested in assembly bill 719 and senate bill 491," according to E. E. Campbell, chairman of the Farm Bureau legislative committee.

"This bill provides for the examining and licensing of plumbers and laying down the rules for construction, alteration and maintenance for the plumbing and drainage of buildings in all parts of California, including the county."

"Section three provides that the plumbing and drainage of all buildings, both public and private, hereafter erected anywhere within the state shall be executed in accordance with plans previously approved in writing by the board of health or health officer of either city or county, and requires that suitable drawings and distribution of the plumbing and drainage be submitted with the application for a plumbing permit to be placed on file in the health office."

"Other limitations in this make it extremely important for agricultural folks to watch the bill very closely."

"We would at least suggest that you scrutinize it very closely to see that it does not tie up farmers who must do more or less of their own small building work," said Campbell.

SITUATION FOR BULB GROWERS SAID FAVORABLE

MADISON, Wis., March 15.—Dairy authorities claim that fully 25 per cent of Wisconsin's dairy cows could be sent to the stockyards and the dairy profits of the state would increase.

The average Wisconsin dairy cow produces 4975 pounds of milk and 190 pounds of butterfat in a year, according to reports issued by A. J. Cramer, in charge of testing associations in the state. Dairy specialists say that it is useless for a farmer to keep cows that will not produce around 6000 pounds of milk and more than 200 pounds of fat in a year.

Cattle with lower production, it is claimed, cannot produce to a profit and only add to the costs of feeding and labor to roll higher production cattle of their profitable yield.

The experience of farmers in the cow testing associations has shown that a closely culled dairy herd is much more profitable than numbers to dairy prosperity.

"While Wisconsin leads in dairying and farm prosperity there is still opportunity for improvement in the state average and margin of profit," says Cramer. "Eliminate the boarder dairy cow and Wisconsin would have few farm financial worries."

American-grown bulb stocks on the whole, owing to the diversity of the conditions under which they are produced, are likely to be less uniform in their performance than foreign stocks, but are just as productive and responsive under glass when suitably handled. On this account stocks from widely separated localities should not be mixed.

Storage should receive more careful attention. Overexposure to light, and sometimes even to cold, is a common cause of failure. It is imperative that a large part of the so-called "diseased" troubles of bulbs, especially daffodils, is due not to parasitic organisms but to improper cultural, storage, or handling conditions.

The bulletin considers in detail the bulbs of the bulb trade, with tulips, daffodils, lilies, crocus, hyacinths, and iris. Copies may be obtained as long as the supply lasts by writing to the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Issue Bulletin On Production Of Persimmons

"Culture of the Oriental Persimmon in California," by Knowles Ryerson, has just come from the press of the University of California, as Bulletin 416. It may be had free by writing the college of agriculture, at Berkeley. Ryerson formerly was in the agricultural extension service of the college, but now is engaged in private horticultural work in Porto Rico.

In this bulletin Ryerson takes up the history of the persimmon in California, describes the varieties, recites climatic and soil requirements, and tells of propagation, orchard management and marketing.

"Though grown in California for half a century or more," says Ryerson, "the Oriental or Japanese persimmon is still a fruit of minor importance in the horticulture of our state. Interest in its culture has increased greatly in recent years, however, and much new acreage has been planted. The present total bearing and non-bearing plantings probably do not exceed 1000 acres, but this represents more than double the acreage of five years ago and new plantings are constantly being made. The fruit reaches the market in the fall and winter months during the holiday season and has met with considerable favor, for many years having returned a good profit to the growers. Until recently the persimmon has been grown primarily as a side line, but from present indications in the near future its culture will be an important industry in certain parts of California."

Urges Pruning Annually of Citrus Trees

The need for some pruning of citrus trees each year has been demonstrated through observations made and test plots carried on, according to a statement recently made by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

It is a mistake for growers to prune heavily at any one time, especially in orchards that have been well cared for. The green leaves on the tree continually function, supplying plant food to the trees. If much of the leaf surface is cut off at any one time some checking in growth and production generally occurs.

The pruning of citrus trees, if carried on according to the program whereby a very moderate amount of cutting is done annually early in the season, appears to be a desirable practice. If carried on consistently, other things being equal, this practice will keep the orchard in a healthy, vigorous condition.

SCRUB CULLING SAID TO BRING HIGHER PROFITS

MADISON, Wis., March 15.—Dairy authorities claim that fully 25 per cent of Wisconsin's dairy cows could be sent to the stockyards and the dairy profits of the state would increase.

The average Wisconsin dairy cow produces 4975 pounds of milk and 190 pounds of butterfat in a year, according to reports issued by A. J. Cramer, in charge of testing associations in the state. Dairy specialists say that it is useless for a farmer to keep cows that will not produce around 6000 pounds of milk and more than 200 pounds of fat in a year.

Cattle with lower production, it is claimed, cannot produce to a profit and only add to the costs of feeding and labor to roll higher production cattle of their profitable yield.

The experience of farmers in the cow testing associations has shown that a closely culled dairy herd is much more profitable than numbers to dairy prosperity.

"While Wisconsin leads in dairying and farm prosperity there is still opportunity for improvement in the state average and margin of profit," says Cramer. "Eliminate the boarder dairy cow and Wisconsin would have few farm financial worries."

American-grown bulb stocks on the whole, owing to the diversity of the conditions under which they are produced, are likely to be less uniform in their performance than foreign stocks, but are just as productive and responsive under glass when suitably handled. On this account stocks from widely separated localities should not be mixed.

Storage should receive more careful attention. Overexposure to light, and sometimes even to cold, is a common cause of failure. It is imperative that a large part of the so-called "diseased" troubles of bulbs, especially daffodils, is due not to parasitic organisms but to improper cultural, storage, or handling conditions.

The bulletin considers in detail the bulbs of the bulb trade, with tulips, daffodils, lilies, crocus, hyacinths, and iris. Copies may be obtained as long as the supply lasts by writing to the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

England is to observe this year the one hundredth anniversary of the death of Ann Borlase, who lived to be eighty-seven, and is said to have been the oldest actress who ever appeared on the English stage.

Alfalfa adds to the fertility of the farm, whereas grass hay crops deplete the stock of organic and mineral elements that leave the land poorer on that account, says Ford S. Prince, soils and crops specialist of the University of New Hampshire.

Figures collected in 1922 and 1925 for co-operative associations handling dairy products, fruits and vegetables indicate the small association lost in relative importance and the large association gained.

POTATO YIELD IN CALIFORNIA IS VERY HIGH

Assistant Farm Advisor Gives Tips to Orange County 'Spud' Growers

By RAYMOND ELLIS
Assistant Farm Advisor

As the results of a survey made by William Stuart of the U. S. department of agriculture, it has been found that the average potato production of the United States is approximately 113 bushels per acre.

This survey also showed that a certain large farm of potato growers in this state had produced an average of 1000 bushels per acre from nine acres.

Immediately the question arose as to a reason for this great variation, and as a result certain things have been brought out, which might be of use to Orange county growers who are contemplating the planting of a few "spuds."

Probably the one factor which causes low production to a large extent is poor seed. Too many growers are prone to buy potato seed anywhere that it may be secured, regardless of where it originated. The best way to secure good seed is to buy certified seed. This is being grown by growers in some 20 states, who give special attention to yielding ability, uniformity, freedom from disease and true seed to name. It has been proven over and over again that certified seed will outyield ordinary seed in many cases doubling the yield under similar conditions.

Another factor influencing yields greatly is the quantity of seed used. The record of 1000 bushels per acre was probably partially due to the use of 40 bushels of seed per acre, which is almost twice as much as is ordinarily used by growers in this state.

Witness my hand this 16th day of February, 1927. L. A. HANCOCK, State of California.

On this 16th day of February, 1927, before me, P. H. Goddard, a Notary Public in and for the State of California, residing therein, duly commissioned and sworn, personally appeared the undersigned, who is known to me to be the person whose name is subscribed to the within instrument, and acknowledged to me that he executed the same.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal this day and year in this certificate first above written. H. GODDARD, Notary Public, in and for the county of Los Angeles, State of California.

Notice is hereby given that the City of Santa Ana, California, will receive sealed bids up to the hour of three o'clock P. M. of Wednesday, March 16, 1927, for the construction of a reinforced concrete garage building and reinforced concrete driveway to plans and specifications prepared by Fay R. Spangler, Architect, Santa Ana, California.

Eight hundred and eighteen cows were tested for butterfat this last month by the Orange County Farm Bureau. Contesting association. This number averaged 35.4 pounds of butterfat and 890 pounds of milk. There were a total of 991 cows in the association, which would make an average for the association of 73.49 pounds of milk and 29.2 pounds of butterfat.

The highest producing cow was one owned by H. P. Giddings and Sons of Placentia. She produced 1423 pounds of milk and 84.3 pounds of butterfat.

The high herd average of herds under 25 was attained by W. L. Walton, whose herd averaged 36.3 pounds of butterfat for all cows in the herd.

There were 241 cows producing 40 pounds of butterfat or more. Twenty-four cull cows were sold. Owners having cows producing more than 60 pounds are C. F. Heil, R. Lang, J. Molio, O. Folk, H. P. Giddings, J. Zumwalt, W. L. Walton, L. C. Lea, C. J. Gerstman and M. C. Tolle.

The average contestant who entered the five-acre cotton contest conducted in 1926 by the South Carolina extension service produced an average of 8751 pounds of seed cotton and 3034 pounds of lint on five acres, at a cost of 7.9 cents a pound of lint.

Figures collected in 1922 and 1925 for co-operative associations handling dairy products, fruits and vegetables indicate the small association lost in relative importance and the large association gained.

Billy Evans Says

AVON PARK, Fla., March 16.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, who for nearly 20 years has vied with Walter Johnson for pitching honors, is still a very active young man.

During my tour of the training camps, I hit Avon Park shortly after Alexander's birthday. It was the occasion for a town holiday, with a party in the evening in honor of Alexander's 40th birthday anniversary.

There is no getting away from the fact that Alexander is the inspiration in the camp of the Cardinals. The players, from the youngsters to the veteran stars like Jim Bottomley, look up to Alex.

It has been hinted by certain National League managers that Alexander is a "Good-time Charley," hard to handle, but his actions in the training camp certainly belie it.

EASY TO HANDLE

"Great pitchers always are the easiest to handle," said Manager-Catcher Bob O'Farrell, when I mentioned the name of Alexander.

"I don't figure Alex will be a bit harder to manage than catch and that is a soft proposition, for his control is well-nigh perfect.

"It isn't my policy to dictate how a star must live; that is up to the individual himself. No player can remain a star long unless he keeps in good condition.

"All that I ask of any pitcher is that he give me his best efforts and be ready to pitch in turn.

"There are no curfew orders on my ball club, neither is the 'we-won't come home until morning' attitude popular.

"My men are on their honor. That is the best way to appeal to gentlemen and I am pleased to say that is just what the Cardinal players are."

PROUD OF HIS RECORD

While Alexander admits he has occasionally broken training, it has been as a respite from the hard grind, the fear of going stale.

"You know college coaches and trainers break the training routine at times when their players are on the verge of going stale," explains Alexander with a smile.

"A major league campaign is the toughest of all competitive sports, because it extends over a period of six months and is filled with many a tough battle, that taxes a player to the limit, mentally as well as physically.

"Critics who say I fail to keep in condition at all times are unfair to me. I point to my 17 years in the majors and the fact that I have always been a hard worker to refute any stories that I am a bad actor and hard to handle.

"Of all the managers I have played under only one has so considered me. I don't count him a big leaguer yet."

HOPES FOR BIG SEASON

There is no doubt as to the important part Alexander must play if the Cardinals are to repeat.

Should Alex have one of those bad seasons, that every now and then come even to great pitchers as Johnson and himself, the entire team will react to his failure.

However Alexander doesn't anticipate such a happening. His spring work strengthens the belief. When I saw him in action he was further along as to his condition than any member of the Card's pitching staff.

Alexander wants to pitch the opener, hopes to pitch part in more than 300 innings of pitching, and is set on winning anywhere from 18 to 30 ball games.

Manager Bob O'Farrell hopes he goes even better than that, as does every other member of the club.

BASEBALL EXPERTS DIVIDED IN OPINION ON BIG LEAGUE PENNANT WINNERS THIS YEAR

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 16.—In this open season for picking pennant winners, nearly every team in the major leagues is being given some kind of chance. Opinion, expert and otherwise, is divided on all clubs except the Philadelphia Phillies and the Boston Red Sox. They are unanimous choices for last place.

TROJANS HAVE SIX BIG MEETS LEFT ON CARD

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Coach Dean Cromwell's U. S. C. Trojans have six major track and field meets remaining on their schedule, and consequently this week's bye will mean but little let-up in the grind.

On March 26, Coach "Nibs" Price brings his University of California Golden Bears here, with the Trojans journeying to Palo Alto a week later to engage the Stanford Cardinals.

The development of Bostler and Aleks in the javelin throw will stand the Trojans in good stead against the Stanford weight men.

The A. U. championships are billed for the Los Angeles Coliseum April 16, with the famous Charleys, Borah and Paddock, probably meeting at the Trojan-Mercury meet May 14 in the event that the "fastest human" can leave his movie work long enough to get into shape for the century and furlong sprints.

This year's I. C. 4-A meet is programmed for May 27-28 at Philadelphia, with the Trojans again appearing in the role of defending champions.

To bring the season to a fitting close the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate will be held, June 3-4, in Los Angeles.

Babe Ruth Fans As Pinch Hitter

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16.—Babe Ruth returned to the game as a pinch hitter when the New York Yankees defeated the Boston Braves, 6 to 5. Ruth's only contribution was to strike out. Cedric Durst, young outfielder, got a home run in the fifth.

WILLARD ATHLETES PREPARE FOR TWO IMPORTANT MEETS

The first inter-club track meet between the seniors of Frances E. Willard junior high school was held yesterday, the Wildcats winning from the Pirates, 45 1/2 to 23 1/2.

Norman Paul was high point man, rolling up 18 counters in the shot, broad jump, high jump and dash.

Coach L. W. Archer is putting his athletes through these competitive events to prepare them for the two pending meets of importance, one with Tustin grammar school March 18 and one with Julia C. Lathrop junior high school March 23.

Four events—the pole vault, 220 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles and the 100 yard dash—all of which are new to Willard athletes will be featured in the Tustin affair.

The results:

High jump—Paul (W) first; Beaver (W) second; Tarver (P) third; Smith (W) fourth; Thornhill (W) fifth. Distance, 17 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

Broad jump—Paul (W) first; Ester (W) second; Thornhill (W) third; McDougall (P) fourth; Smith (W) fifth. Distance, 17 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

8-round shot—Paul (W) first; Gundrum (W) second; Thornhill (W) third; Tarver (P) fourth; McDougall (P) fifth. Distance, 48 feet, 8 inches.

75-yard dash—McDougall (P) first; Gross (P) second; Paul (W) third; Ester (W) fourth; Beaver (W) fifth. Time, 9 1/4 sec.

BEATTY NAMED CAPTAIN OF HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALLERS

Melvin Beatty, first string catcher, was elected captain of the 1927 Santa Ana high school baseball squad when Coach William (Bill) Foote called his letter-men into executive session yesterday.

Beatty was an outfielder last year but reported for the receiving chores this spring and his all-around work has been so good that he virtually has clinched the mask and mitt assignment.

Beatty's brother, Blanchard, was a star on the high school nine two years ago.

In the Coast Preparatory league this year, Captain Beatty will have to pilot the Poly squad over some rough spots. Alhambra, champion last year, retained its entire team almost intact and San Diego and Long Beach both have veteran pitchers back.

BILLY SUNDAY CALLS FIRST "OUT" OF YEAR

Umpiring the first game of the Florida baseball training camps, at Tampa, was Billy Sunday, the evangelist. Here he is deciding that Mann, of the Braves, caught off first, was tagged out by Joe Judge, of the Washington Senators, as he attempts to slide back to safety.

POLY CRUSHES GROVERS MARKET WINS PIN TITLE

Coach Bill Foote's Santa Ana high school baseball club went to market yesterday and collected enough runs at its first stop to carry it through the rest of a matinee with Garden Grove high school. The boys kept at their knelling, however, and by the time they completed their seventh lap had a 12 to 3 victory cashed away in their market baskets.

Melvin Beatty, newly elected pilot of the Foote merry-men, figured prominently in the Garden Grove debacle for he clicked out three raps in four stances at the dish and one of his blows, a rousing triple, came in the ninth when the bases were drunk.

Santa Ana greeted the Grovers with anything but rare hospitality, marking five times in the assault frame. Beatty led the assault with Warren Sullivan, Wilmont Flanders, Dugger and John Secret all taking more than a passing interest in the proceedings.

Neither side was able to do much damage after the eye- opener until the last chapter. Then, with two in the well, Nealton, Garden Grove's deceiver, grew wild, passed four successive stickers and laid one in Beatty's groove that the new skipper pashed to the wall for three bases.

Foote will take his team to Garden Grove tomorrow for a return engagement.

Pirates Will Not Appear In South

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Word received here today indicates that the Pittsburgh Pirates will not show their wares in Southern California this spring, as they have elected to jump from San Francisco to San Antonio, from which point they will work northward for the opening of the National league.

M'Carthy Angry As Regulars Lose

AVAILON, CATALINA ISLAND, March 16.—Manager Joe McCarthy is venting his displeasure at the slumping of the Chicago Cubs regulars, and has announced that in this week's games he will use only veterans, just to see how they stand up under fire. A ninth inning rally in yesterday's practice game gave the yanigans a 7 to 6 victory.

Fournier Arrested For Hitting Officer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16.—Jack Fournier, veteran member of the Boston Braves, was arrested for hitting a no-flyer following a baseball game yesterday. He is said to have refused to allow the officer to serve papers in a $5000 damage suit against him.

LEW TENDLER KAYOES WILLS IN 8TH ROUND

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Lew Tandler, referred to as "through" by the "wise ones" today stood as a real menace to the coast's array of welterweight talent, by virtue of a technical knockout scored over Young Harry Wills, San Diego colored battler, in the eighth round at the Olympic auditorium last night.

The crafty Philadelphia has taken on years and poundage since he last met Benny Leonard, but in the interim the fighting brain and dazzling left have not been numbed.

In the opening canto, Wills landed about his only blows of the fight, rights to the stomach, whereas the "long money" decided that it had spoken wisely.

A few seconds later Tandler unleashed his southpaw volleys, evened the round handily and from that point on started the big parade of unflinching left crosses, interspersed with right jabs.

Each of the succeeding rounds went to Tandler by wide margins, with Wills gamely trying to stay the distance, despite the fact that his face swelled rapidly under the barrage of blows. The final round saw Wills helpless, with Tandler scoring an even dozen solid punches without a return after one staggering punch had lifted the colored lad clear of the floor, only to return him to two unsteady legs.

Wills found that clinching avail- ed him nothing as Tandler's body attack was relenting.

St. Louis Browns Sell Dixie Davis

ST. LOUIS, March 16.—After six years as a big-leaguer, during which time it seemed he had all the stuff necessary but could never get it into a consistently good working order, Dixie Davis, right-handed pitcher, has been sold to the Kansas City club of the American association.

Shade-Walker Go Wanted In Chicago

CHICAGO, March 16.—Prospects of another championship boxing bout for Chicago—the recent Waterloo of champions—appeared with Promoter Jim Mullen angling for a summer fight between Dave Shade, California, and Mickey Walker, king of the middleweights.

MYSTERY OF THE POPULAR CIGAR

We admit, Mr. Smoker, it is a mystery. We confess that right in our own factory there are differences of opinion as to the main reason for the growing popularity of San Felice at So. Is it that mild blend, the delightful aroma, the smoothness, or the mellowness that makes San Felice such a big favorite? To meet the increasing demand we have had to enlarge our weekly production on San Felice by the millions. What feature in your opinion, Mr. Smoker, is responsible for winning so many new men to San Felice? Try one today, and see for yourself if San Felice isn't that mild, smooth, fragrant and mellow cigar you are looking for.

CLEAN SCREEN NOT CREDITED TO CENSORSHIP

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 16.—No censorship could have brought about the results which have been attained in cleaning up the motion picture industry, Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., said in an address before the Harvard graduate school of business administration.

In his address, which is the first of a series to be given by leaders of the motion picture industry, Hays said:

"There has become rather prevalent a certain type of book and play that deals in theme and situation with certain topics which in previous years were discussed only in whispers."

Hays, explaining his organization's method of keeping the screen clean, said that when a company holding membership in the corporation is offered the screen rights to a book or play of probably questionable nature, the association is informed by the company's representatives. If the judgment is confirmed, a notice is sent out by the association to all other member companies, naming the objectionable play or book.

Thus, he said, other companies, representing about 85 per cent of the producers, have an opportunity to avoid picturization of the novel or play which the association disapproves.

"Our method, which is, of course thoroughly legal and which has proved efficient, is not censorship in any sense of the word," Hays said. "Our formula does not by any possible interpretation limit the production of vital or artistic pictures. Any method which did that would fail absolutely."

The United States now produces more than 55 per cent of all the world's motion pictures, Hays said. "Hollywood has become an international enterprise."

The greatest potentiality for good possessed by the motion picture is its power of bringing about better understanding between men, groups and nations, in Hays' belief.

"When we know one another, we do not hate one another. When we do not hate, we do not make war," he said.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

"Mississippi Steamboat" We smile sometimes, at the eloquence of the men who tell us of those old but gaudy days when all steamers were palatial, traveling with the speed of the wind, churning the muddy waters to foam. However, there is something unusually fascinating in those tales of bygone splendor which causes all stories on the subject of Mississippi steamboating to be eagerly read.

And as we read this new book by Herbert Quick and Edward Quick, we smile as ever at the tales contained in the book which have been taken from the oral accounts of the early pioneers who were familiar with "steamboatin'."

It is of interest to note that the authors state that much of their knowledge has been gained through steamboat men, gamblers, dock loafers, newspapermen and others who have spent their lives on the Mississippi.

The spirit of these past days is caught up in the book and it is easy to understand the charm of the latter part of the 18th century in connection with life on the Mississippi. There is a picture painted in glowing colors of the life in New Orleans, "the Paris of the new world," and other towns along the banks of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers.

Truly old and young should read this account of "steamboatin' " days, for seldom is a subject presented in such a vivid and interesting manner.

"A Literary Man's London"

What would the world's greatest writers say about London were they alive today and could visit that great city is a pertinent question and has been answered by Charles G. Harper in his latest book, "The Literary Man's London." After answering the first question, Harper proceeds to give an account of the various famous men who have been in London. His list is opened with Chaucer, the son of a vintner who lived on Thames street in the early part of the 14th century. As one reads one finds that Edmund Spenser was born in London in 1553 and that in 1574 Ben Jonson was born in Hartshorne lane, now Northumberland street. Robert Herrick, "the sweetest singer of the 17th century," also was born in London in 1591. Many other well known characters are discussed in the book.

A chapter is devoted to Charles Morris, called laureate of London. Later there are chapters on London as it was known by Dr. Samuel Johnson, who believed that epitaphs should be couched only in Latin and whose ponderous style of English was more Roman than Anglo-Saxon. A chapter on Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, tells how it happened that all true Londoners wear a primrose on the anniversary of the death of that great man.

There are tales of the Londoners of many other well known personages in this book which makes it valuable as a reference book as well as a book with which to pass an otherwise uninteresting hour.

"The American in England"

Peculiar indeed were the relations between Great Britain and the United States of America in the years immediately following the American Revolution, according to Robert E. Spiller, whose book, "The American in England," recently has been added to the city library. The author has shown much tact in his discussions of the situation facing the American of post-Revolutionary days to whom England was both a parent and an enemy nation. The fact that a common political, cultural, and racial heredity bound together the young nation and the old more firmly than either would have wished has furnished the subject for Spiller's entertaining and historically valuable book.

Various chapters deal with the conditions of that day which include travel by land and sea, students and their problems, artists, official characters, practical tourists, women, critics and journalists.

Two other new books of great value are "Fundamentals of Investment," by Samuel O. Rice, and "International Liberty of Technology," by the editorial staff of the International Correspondence schools. The subject, which is treated in the last-named book, deals with the necessary preparations for civil service examinations.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGNS ARE BEING PLANNED

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Political leaders of various sections of the Republican and Democratic parties are quietly preparing the ground for formal opening of the 1928 presidential campaign this summer.

President Coolidge has indicated he will abide by the decision of party leaders in their present scouting expeditions to determine whether there is a widespread demand that he run for re-election. Meantime, a campaign is being conducted by his close friends to "educate the public" to the president's position upon farm relief in an effort to nullify criticism from some quarters because of his veto of the McNary-Haugen farm price stabilization bill.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover is making himself available for call with a waterways campaign—with an incidental farm relief angle—which, during the summer, will take him from coast to coast. Other prospective candidates with the exception of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, are marking time and waiting for Mr. Coolidge's decision. Lowden's friends are beginning active organization in Iowa and other farm states to round up a substantial Lowden delegation for the Republican national convention in 1928.

There is less activity in the Democratic ranks. Friends of Gov. Al Smith, of New York, are quietly working in the south to overcome the opposition there against Smith. An active organization for Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, has been formed in his home state and has received some endorsements from some wet areas. There has been little activity for William G. McAdoo, who fought to a stalemate with Smith in the 1924 Democratic convention. Some of McAdoo's supporters are leaning to Gov. Vic Donahey, of Ohio, as a dark horse.

Another prominent dark horse has been trotted out by Thomas Taggart, Indiana, Democratic leader, who has announced himself for Evans Woolen, Indianapolis banker.

U. S. LAND FOUND

AFTER 80 YEARS

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Land that the federal government has possessed for 80 years in the mountains of northern Alabama has just been "discovered" by search in the records of the federal land office.

The surveyor who mapped the territory in 1847 for allocation to settlers seems to have been daunted when he came to the brink of May's gulf, a beautiful gorge 10 miles long and a quarter to a half mile wide. Or perhaps he concluded that no one ever would want it. Anyway he mapped only to the brink on either side, drew two lines marking the bluffs and labelled them "perpendicular bluffs 200 to 500 feet high," and let it go at that.

The state legislature is expected to buy the territory for a park, in accordance with a federal law passed last year permitting transfer of such tracts to the states.

Nevada to Open War on Mustangs

EUREKA, Nev., March 16.—Farmers, cowboys and professional hunters, co-operating with the Nevada Livestock commission and stockmen, are completing plans for a drive of extermination against the bands of wild mustangs in Antelope valley.

The campaign is scheduled to start March 27, with more than 50 expert marksmen engaged. Livestock men state the mustangs are driving domestic horses, sheep and cattle from the range and water holes, and are causing much damage.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

ARC LIGHTS AT ORANGE BOUGHT BY CITY BOARD

ORANGE, March 16.—Eighteen arc lights are to be installed at selected spots about the city as a result of action taken by the board of trustees at the meeting held yesterday afternoon in the city hall. The necessity for illumination on East Walnut avenue was remedied by voting 12 lights of 60 watts each to be distributed from Tustin street north to the city limits, a distance of approximately one and a half miles.

Five lights of 100 watts each were ordered installed on West La Veta avenue between Batavia street and Main street. One 100 watt light was voted for the center of the block between Sycamore and Palm avenues on North Lemon street. According to C. C. Bonebrake, street superintendent, the 18 additional lights will cost the city $28.02 per month to operate.

The Byron Jackson Pump Works of Los Angeles was granted the order for one deep well turbine pump and motor on the bid submitted at last week's meeting, of $4017. Delivery on the apparatus is scheduled for within the next 15 days.

W. J. Richardson, water superintendent, was authorized to expend $144 for a sparring meter, $55 each for two 10-inch valves, and any other sums for extra equipment necessary for the satisfactory connection of the pump, motor and well.

Paint and repairs to be applied to the inside and outside of the city hall upon recommendation of Trustee Ross Miller were estimated at $1040 by Charles Barker, painter. Miller was authorized to employ Barker by day labor to do the work.

Upon hearing the report of C. C. Bonebrake, city engineer, the board voted to insist upon the repair of the West Chapman avenue railroad crossing with concrete and the installation of a 12-inch culvert under the tracks at Culver avenue by the Santa Fe Railroad company. Bonebrake stated that Santa Fe officials had admitted the necessity of repairs at the crossing but wished the city to pay for putting while no terms had been agreed upon as to the culvert expense settlement.

MARIONETTES TO PRESENT PROGRAM

FULLERTON, March 16.—The Fullerton Parent Teachers association has secured the Kegg-Goldsmith Marionettes to present the fairytale play, "Cinderella," at the Wilshire school auditorium, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and also in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. The entertainment is entirely different from anything ever presented here. The school children, who are the principal ones to enjoy the entertainment, have been hearing the story of the marionettes. These little figures are carved from wood and have wires attached to each joint which are pulled by unseen hands so that the marionettes walk, run, dance and even fly. They talk and sing as well, and are dressed in beautiful costumes of Louis XIV period. They act out very interesting the fairytale, "Cinderella."

These miniature portrayals of people act out the performance so life-like, that at the end of the play, when a man appears among them, he appears to be a giant to the audience who are fooled to such an extent by the disillusionment.

Mexicans Please Orange Folk In Musical Program

ORANGE, March 16.—Brotherly love and further evidences of international good will were indicated last night when Orange society leaders mingled with residents of the Mexican colony at a recital given by talented musical and dance artists of the Mexican settlement in the county in the Woman's clubhouse.

The program, sponsored by the Rev. R. K. Shade, pastor at the local Mexican Center church, drew such a crowd that a call to the American Legion for the use of a supply of folding chairs, stored in the Legion Hall nearby, was necessary.

When the program was opened by the Ramirez concert orchestra, the clubhouse was jammed with people and many were being turned away because of lack of room.

Enthusiastic applause rendered by the audience to the various numbers on the program evidenced the fact that a feeling of genuine enjoyment of an artistic performance was being felt by the austere judicial authorities and the orange pickers alike who were in attendance.

Mrs. Frank Pruitt, on behalf of the Woman's club, welcomed the Mexican artists to the use of the clubhouse and thanked the audience for the support given the concert. Evaristo Diaz in a response, thanked the Woman's club for the donation of the hall to the Mexican artists and asked for a better understanding between the races.

Give Dance to Buy Siren To Call Firemen

TUSTIN, March 16.—Funds with which to purchase new fire fighting equipment will be raised by the volunteer fire department here tonight. Firemen are staging their annual dance at the Knights of Pythias hall. The dance is given each year to raise money for the department instead of soliciting subscriptions from the people of the district. Several hundred tickets have already been sold to the dance, according to Thomas Shedd, president of the volunteer organization.

Residents of Irvine and the country surrounding Tustin are given protection by the fire department. It is planned to purchase a new fire siren to be placed on the building as a call signal when there is a fire, according to reports.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS AT ORANGE GET CAMP SCHEDULE

ORANGE, March 16.—Boys who are members of the Y. M. C. A. in Orange will have the annual opportunity of attending summer camp at Osceola from June 21 to July 5 with those from Anaheim, according to an announcement of the tentative dates at yesterday's meeting of the executive committee of the Y. M. C. A. in the Y. M. C. A. building.

Girls of Orange who are members of the Girl Reserves will be given an opportunity of making use of the camp from July 19 to 29 when the Orange county organization of Girl Reserves will be given the use of the camp, it was announced.

Two new cabins are projected for the camp, and completion of the cabins formerly used as tent houses is also proposed. The cabins, which were used with tents during the past season, were donated to the camp by local service clubs.

Wilbur Woods, chairman of a new committee on parental relationships, reported that material will be gathered and made available for use by young parents in child training. Woods stated that the responsibility of the "Y" should be considered as extending to the children before they are old enough to be associated with the Y. M. C. A. organization and that he believes young parents would welcome, and find useful, information on child training.

Upon the recommendation of Leonard A. Gulton, principal of the El Modena elementary school, the members of the board subscribed $30 toward a clubhouse for the younger boys of El Modena to use in the evenings or during their spare time and appointed a committee numbering in addition to Gulton the following: D. F. Campbell, K. E. Watson and F. L. Almsworth to secure funds for the project.

Bible Class Men Meet for Lunch; Preacher Speaks

ORANGE, March 16.—A day from the life of Christ was pictured to the group of business men who attended the first of a series of four Tuesday noonday Bible class luncheons in the Epworth league hall of the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday. The Rev. P. W. Clarkson was the speaker.

The Rev. Clarkson pictured Christ as a man's man, lending ear to all who desired to talk, dealing with business men in a business way and with all men in a Christian way.

Eighteen men attended the first meeting. Each testified at the conclusion of the meeting of the success of the affair and pledged himself to bring at least one other man to the meeting next Tuesday.

Because the idea is new to Orange, men are apt to be skeptical of the value of the class, but according to C. E. Morrow, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and Ralph W. Hull, chairman of the religious committee of the Y. M. C. A., the men who attended yesterday were well satisfied as to the benefit derived from the class.

Alamitos Man Is Robbed of Purse; No Clue Obtained

LOS ALAMITOS, March 16.—Police are searching for four men who recently attacked and robbed Ray Serrano as he was entering his home. According to a report filed with authorities, Serrano and a brother, William, together with Mr. and Mrs. Haley, were returning from a theater party when the attack upon Serrano was made.

Attracted by moving shadows at the garage, Serrano started a tour of investigation, according to the others of the party. When the men attacked Serrano, the others of the party screamed for help. Upon investigation, the victim of the assault was found unconscious and his wallet looted of $75.

No clue as to who the attackers were or as to where they went was found by investigators.

Furniture repaired and refinished. Fix-It Shop, 105 E. 3rd.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTIONS AT TUSTIN SOON

TUSTIN, March 16.—Considerable interest is centering about school elections here. One trustee is to be elected to the grammar school board and two on the high school board on March 25.

The term of Mrs. James Willis Rice expires on the grammar school board of trustees. Mrs. Rice has announced her candidacy for another term. No opposition has developed, according to reports, and it is expected that she will have a clear field.

The terms of A. L. Trickey, of Irvine, and Mrs. S. W. Stanley, of Tustin, expire on the high school board of trustees. Trickey will be a candidate for re-election. Mrs. Stanley will not seek re-election.

William J. Cheney, prominent local rancher, has announced his intention of seeking the school board position.

LEGION WOMEN AT ORANGE HEAR TALK

ORANGE, March 16.—The official visit of Miss Grace Weston, committee woman for the Elven district of the American Legion auxiliary, to the local unit was made at the semi-monthly meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Legion hall.

Miss Weston addressed the auxiliary on the work of the county and state organizations. It was voted to allow a sum of money from the treasury to be sent to the Veteran's hospital at Savelle, and to a children's home in Burbank. The latter institution will receive a stated amount each month, it was decided.

A shower to equip the Legion hall kitchen will be held at some future date, it was voted. A cooked food sale to be conducted in the Plaza Saturday will be in charge of Mrs. Mabel Baier. Following the meeting, the group was served refreshments by a committee consisting of Mrs. Bert Hodson, Mrs. Frank Brown and Mrs. Ollie Kurtz.

Mrs. Hollis Lindsey is visiting friends and relatives in Santa Barbara and San Jose this week.

Little Rivalry For Places On Anaheim Board

ANAHEIM, March 16.—Candidates in the coming Anaheim school board elections, who made eleven hour filings Monday, will be elected without opposition, it was indicated today when H. M. Adams, clerk of the Anaheim Union high school board and Miss Kate Rea, clerk of the grammar school board, announced that no further candidates have filed petitions of candidacy.

Monday was the closing date for filings and, unless "write in" candidates appear on the ballots election day, March 25, Homer Lewis will succeed himself on the grammar school board and C. C. Reinert and E. E. Smith will take the places of Henry Adams and Charles Mann on the high school board.

Holdover members on the grammar school board are Frank N. Gibbs, president and Miss E. Kate Rea, clerk and on the high school board, Dr. J. W. Harpster, Eli A. Sparks and Henry Ramm.

Homer Lewis is manager of the J. G. Penny store, this city, and has been a member of the grammar school board for the past one and one-half years.

Mr. Smith is manager of the Bank of Italy, Anaheim branch, a member of the Kiwanis club of this city and prominent in Boy Scout activities. Mr. Reinert, the other high school candidate, is a retired capitalist, formerly of South Dakota, who has had extensive experience in public work having served on the city council of his home town as well as on its school board.

City Employees At Orange See Pay Raises

ORANGE, March 16.—Following the holding of an executive session of the board of trustees yesterday afternoon, at which it is generally understood the matter of salary raises for city employees was discussed, the city hall and other departments of city government are buzzing with speculation as to just where the benevolent eyes of the trustees will rest in their circle of employees in line for the prospective raise.

Although no official action was taken toward raising the salaries, the majority of the members of the board are believed to favor the restoration of salaries of employees who suffered reductions a year ago when the council, newly elected, started an economy campaign.

Many of the pictures will show scenes on the trip to San Diego via the Laguna Beach short line, which carries passengers from Long Beach to San Diego and return via the shortest route and fastest time along 110 miles of beautiful ocean scenery.

An outstanding feature of the exhibition is to be the group of pictures that have been loaned by the Rev. St. John O'Sullivan, pastor of the Mission of San Juan Capistrano. These have never before been exhibited, having been kept under lock and key at the Mission. Pictures in this group are declared to be a treat within themselves, and in addition to these there will be many others of renowned artists, some of whom make their homes along the route of the Laguna Beach short line.

Fullerton, March 16.—It was decided by the merchant's division of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce to go on record against "non-profit" advertising. This was decided at a recent meeting at which has been estimated that approximately $30,000 has been spent by local business and professional men in responses to solicitations that have yielded no real result or returns in the way of good will.

The members are urged to stay together on the policy as set forth by the committee. Copies of the resolution which has been adopted by the merchant's division are being sent out today from the office of the Chamber of Commerce to business and professional men of Fullerton. The resolution reads:

"That no business or professional firm of Fullerton shall place any advertising in any publication, not a legitimate local publication, or subscribing any amount of money to any cause until the same has received the written endorsement of this committee's special committee, created for this purpose."

The merchants' division is perhaps the most important and most active branch of the Chamber of Commerce, representing all branches of local trade. Rich Volk is chairman, and the other men are: J. H. Harris, H. W. Ehen, A. A. Montgomery, H. O. Denyes, F. Schlenker, L. B. Harris, Fred Strauss, F. J. McGraw, Ed McManus, Taylor Jacobson, Phil Haber, Harry Ustick, Ralph Irwin, Ed Nelson, Emil True, A. J. Kelly, Jack Abbott, R. H. Rogers, J. J. Alexander, Otto Egan, E. Johnson, F. L. Lincoln, J. J. Farley, W. Elmers, and Byron Richman.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, March 16.—Twelve young people from the Wintersburg community and surrounding towns, enjoyed a motor trip Sunday, to Camp Baldy, and Ice House canyon, then on to the snow line where snowballing was in for a time before luncheon, which was spread in picnic style besides one of the small mountain streams in the vicinity. In the outing party were Marguerite McCormack, Gladys McCormack, Alma Kanawyer, Albert Sutherland and Gray Hazard, of Wintersburg; Evelyn Manson, Vincent Cochems, of Huntington Beach; Eddie Starkey, of Talbert; Alice Donahue, Charles Donahue, of Garden Grove.

A reunion of the six Clemens sisters was held last Friday at which time the sisters, who have formed a "Sisters' club," met in the home of one of their number, Mrs. George Gano, of Fullerton.

The six sisters are Mrs. William McGuire and Mrs. Simeon TenEyck, of Wintersburg; Mrs. Donald McMillan, of Smetzer; Mrs. Elmer Gothard, of Huntington Beach; Mrs. James Maddux, of Anaheim, and Mrs. Gano, the hostess.

The mother, Mrs. Mary E. Clemens, also of this place, was guest, as were Mrs. Carol King and son, of Huntington Beach, and Miss Edna Gano. Four generations were represented in the company, the great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Clemens; grandmother, Mrs. Simeon TenEyck; mother, Mrs. Carol King, and young Master Robert Frederick King, four months old.

The Wintersburg county branch library is weekly becoming more popular. Miss Juliette Blaylock reports that 76 books were taken out during the six hours which the library was open last week. Sixty new books, including mostly fiction and children's books, the majority of which had been requested, were brought to the library a few days ago by Miss Margaret Livingston, county librarian, and these books are this week at the disposal of the booklovers. The library hours are 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 8 p. m., on Monday and Thursday of each week.

Mrs. S. Waddell, of Louisiana, Mo., and Mrs. E. H. McCormack, of Anaheim, have returned to Anaheim following a visit of a week at the home of their niece, Mrs. Albert Steck, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCormack and two children motored to Covina, Monrovia and Azusa, Sunday, later being entertained as dinner guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. Thornburg in Pasadena.

A party drive about Pasadena in the vicinity was then enjoyed by the two families before the return home of Mr. and Mrs. McCormack and family.

The caretaker's residence at the new Edison substation, in Wintersburg, was recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. McCormack.

Pictures in this group are declared to be a treat within themselves, and in addition to these there will be many others of renowned artists, some of whom make their homes along the route of the Laguna Beach short line.

FULLERTON, March 16.—The Canner-Lobinger cannery on South Highland avenue re-opened today for its spinach season which will last approximately two months. The plant has been closed for four months which concluded the tomato season. The manager of the plant is H. L. Dalby.

Over 50 persons have been employed for the spinach season, with more to be added later. It is estimated that approximately $20 per ton will be paid to the growers for the spinach, according to the manager.

Following the spinach season, the string bean crop will be handled at the cannery. With present indications the string bean crop will be very large.

GROVE CHAMBER ENDORSES GAS TAX REFUSAL

GADEN GROVE, March 16.—Members of the chamber of commerce of this city yesterday expressed their approval of recent action of the county board of supervisors in refusing to appropriate gasoline tax funds for the repair of streets within incorporate cities. The following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, the members of the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce believe that the action of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange, in refusing to allocate certain money to the City of Santa Ana from the state gasoline tax fund, and that this action constitutes a square deal and is for the best interests of the county as a whole.

"Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce in regular session assembled this fourth day of March, 1927, endorse the action of the Board of County Supervisors at its meeting March 8, 1927, relative to the distribution of gas and license tax and that a copy of the resolution be mailed to the newspapers throughout the county for publication; also that a copy be sent to Chairman W. M. Schumacher and John C. Mitchell, members of the Orange County Board of Supervisors, adopted this 14th day of March, 1927."

The members appointed to draw up resolution were J. M. Woodworth, Vernon King and Dr. Arthur C. Robbins.

BID ACCEPTED FOR NEW WELL AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, March 16.—The contract for the drilling of a new water well to supplement the city's present waterworks system was awarded to Eugene B. Fish, of Bell, by the Fullerton city trustees at their bi-monthly council meeting last night at the city hall. The bid for the work amounted to $4400, the contract calling for the drilling to a depth of 450 feet. However, the contract was awarded to Mr. Fish on condition that a proportional amount be deducted, provided the well is less than 450 feet. The bids ranged from $4400 up to $6750.

The cost of the well and equipment is being financed from a fund raised each month as a result of the raise of the minimum water rate in the city from $1 to $1.25. Since the raise was made, approximately $3500 has been raised for the new water well. The new project of having another water well was considered by the trustees of being a necessity in case of emergency and also as a supplement to the present system.

Petitions were presented by property owners along several streets in the northwest part of town beyond Nicholas avenue, asking for the consent and help of the trustees to pave the streets in that locality. The matter was referred to the street committee and the city engineer, C. M. Thorpe, to investigate the streets in that locality, consult property owners and report back to the next meeting of the trustees.

TALBERT

TALBERT, March 16.—The funeral of Edward Helm, Talbert resident, whose death followed a lingering illness, was held at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Santa Ana and the funeral parlors of the Mission Funeral Home, where the services were held, were not large enough to care for the large number of friends who attended. The services were read by Rev. J. J. Woodson, pastor of the Talbert Methodist church, south. The pallbearers were: Antonio Borchard, Leo Borchard, Frank Borchard, Charles Borchard, R. L. Callens and Harry Fulton, each of whom has been a friend of the deceased at Ventura many years ago. The interment was in Fairhaven cemetery.

A number of the old friends and relatives of the Helm family were present from their old home, Ventura, among these being Mr. and Mrs. Dalby, Mr. and Mrs. Spenser, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Borchard, Casper Borchard and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Callens.

Miss Blanche Helm and Miss Kate Helm, both of whom were called home by their father's last illness, are returning to their respective schools this week. Miss Blanche, who attends normal at San Diego, left Wednesday, while Miss Kate goes Friday to Death Valley Junction, where she teaches, to resume her duties with the beginning of the new week.

The second grade class of the Fountain Valley school, which is taught by Mrs. Savage, reports a perfect attendance on Monday. This is the first week this record has been made since the early part of the term, as the epidemics which have been prevalent in the school this term, cut out its toll each week on attendance.

Three pupils were out as the result of illness that day in the room of Principal Hayes, Jennie Folkerts, Gretchen Bartol and Verna Helm.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Galloway, of Colton, motored to Talbert Sunday as guests of Mrs. Galloway's parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson. Mr. Galloway returned home the same evening and Mrs. Galloway is remaining for the week. On Monday, Mrs. Galloway accompanied her sister, Miss Dorothy Woodson, to the Huntington Beach high school where she met former friends.

Charles Johnson, of Riverside, motored here Sunday and accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rogers, Miss Dorothy Rogers, Rose and Violet Rogers, drove to Forest Home, in the San Bernardino mountains, where they spent the day in the snow. The children had never had this pleasure before.

Anabelle Landrum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Landrum, is ill with influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward entertained as week-end guests in their home Mrs. Ward's niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jackson, of Santa Monica.

'Witching Hour' To Be Given At Anaheim H. S.

ANAHEIM, March 16.—Fourteen players will be required in the presentation of "The Witching Hour," which seniors of the Anaheim Union high school are to produce some time next month as their farewell dramatic offering, Miss Lucille Bickley, director, announced today.

The play is unusual in its plot and ambitious in the amateur offerings ever attempted in Anaheim. Miss Bickley said. With choice of the cast completed, rehearsals are now fully underway.

Those who will take part in the play are Joe Shea, Lawrence Mitchell, Elmer Martin, John Wallin, Elmer Probst, LaVelle Cheatham, Lois Dunham, Clyde Martin, Marion Ochoa, W. R. Blakely, Edward Grunemay, Ed Fisher, Robert Wilson and Dorman Norton.

BID ACCEPTED FOR NEW WELL AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, March 16.—The contract for the drilling of a new water well to supplement the city's present waterworks system was awarded to Eugene B. Fish, of Bell, by the Fullerton city trustees at their bi-monthly council meeting last night at the city hall. The bid for the work amounted to $4400, the contract calling for the drilling to a depth of 450 feet. However, the contract was awarded to Mr. Fish on condition that a proportional amount be deducted, provided the well is less than 450 feet. The bids ranged from $4400 up to $6750.

The cost of the well and equipment is being financed from a fund raised each month as a result of the raise of the minimum water rate in the city from $1 to $1.25. Since the raise was made, approximately $3500 has been raised for the new water well. The new project of having another water well was considered by the trustees of being a necessity in case of emergency and also as a supplement to the present system.

Petitions were presented by property owners along several streets in the northwest part of town beyond Nicholas avenue, asking for the consent and help of the trustees to pave the streets in that locality. The matter was referred to the street committee and the city engineer, C. M. Thorpe, to investigate the streets in that locality, consult property owners and report back to the next meeting of the trustees.

A petition was also presented by property owners on Carhart, Stephens and Fern avenues in the Stern tract, in which a request was made for lights and temporary repair of roads. This matter was also referred to the street committee and the city engineer with the instructions to obtain costs and the needs for the above named requests, all of which will be reported back to the next trustee meeting.

Considerable discussion was had by the trustees concerning the enforcement of ordinance 200 which states that no signs or other obstruction be placed in parkings in front of homes or business houses by owners or renters.

AUTOS FOR MOTOR OFFICERS

A few years ago it was believed that a traffic officer was of no service at all unless he rode a motorcycle. Now the opinion prevails quite generally that the officer can render more effective service from the seat of an automobile than he can behind the handle-bars of a motorcycle.

Experience seems to bear out the utility of the automobile in this regard. Los Angeles yesterday traded in its traffic motorcycles for new automobiles, with the result that from now on Los Angeles will be using only 13 motorcycles instead of 65. In this county, the automobile has proven efficacious in gathering in highway law-breakers.

In spotting one particular kind of highway law-breaker, the automobile is particularly valuable. The driver who tears along the highway dashing by automobiles in front of him regardless of approaching machines, cutting close in, is the prime nuisance of the highway. He causes more accidents and near-accidents and scares more drivers than all the speeders there are on the highways when there is no traffic. Aside from the effectiveness of the automobile for ordinary traffic enforcement work, the points of difference in safety for the officers are the strongest argument in favor of the automobile as against the motorcycle for use by traffic officers. Orange county has a long list of casualties among its traffic officers. Several of its men have been injured for life. One man has lost a leg. Hardly a man, who has ridden a motorcycle for more than a year, has not had to go to the hospital. No severe injury has been inflicted through the use of the automobile. A terrible score rests against the motorcycle through its use by our motor squad.

Even though the automobile was a handicap to traffic law enforcement—it appears to be the opposite—its use by the squad would be sanctioned by the public; the public has no desire to see its officers maimed uselessly.

CAUSE FOR CONGRATULATION

The law-abiding people of this state—and it is cheering to know that they constitute a big majority of its inhabitants—will be pleased at the prospect of additional legislation, on the part of the state, calculated to put a crimp in the activities of the men who are manufacturing and selling liquor in defiance of the law.

The senate has passed the Jones bill, which makes the possession of a still a felony, instead of a simple misdemeanor, as has been the case.

As might be expected, the San Francisco delegation did all in its power to prevent the passage of this bill, voting solidly in the negative.

Explaining his bill, the author, Senator Jones of San Jose, declared it to be a much needed move to strengthen the weak spots in the prohibition enforcement law, by providing a penalty, for the possession of a still, of $1000 to $2000 fine, in addition to imprisonment for one to five years.

The proposed law, if enacted, will strengthen the hand of every peace officer who is striving to put an end to a condition of affairs which is fast becoming intolerable.

Not alone should prohibitionists, and others who are opposed to the liquor traffic in all or any of its forms, be in favor of this, but every good and law-abiding citizen should realize that this country cannot afford to have any of its laws set at naught and made a mockery.

That way danger lies, the greatest danger which could threaten this or any nation!

In this connection it is but simple justice to give a word of recognition and appreciation to the peace officers, here at home, and elsewhere throughout the state of California, who are using all that they have in the way of ability, courage and thoroughness to the end that the work of the rum-runners and bootleggers of high and low degree be prevented and abated. They are doing this work and doing it effectively.

One more thought in this connection: If the movement to repeal the Wright act and thus effectively tie the hands of our county and township peace officers, so far as the enforcement of the prohibition law is concerned, had succeeded what condition would California be in today, as regards a due and proper enforcement of this law?

If the thousands of gallons of liquor seized by peace officers during the past few months had been admitted—as it would have been were it not for the work of county and township officers—the result would have been a condition of affairs not at all pleasant to contemplate.

And we should, and probably the most of us do, give credit to the men who are day by day, doing fine work for that which we, as all good citizens should, firmly believe in, to-wit: strict enforcement of ALL laws.

FACTS ABOUT THE NAVY

The Scientific American, making a comparative study of naval strength, concludes that it is a good thing for the United States to build three new 10,000-ton cruisers merely as a matter of proportion—to balance a navy deficient in that class. It can not mean entering a race of "competitive building," says this authority. There has been no competitive building since the war. The other powers, the editor finds, have strictly lived up to the terms of the Washington treaty and given us no cause for offense or alarm.

If Great Britain and Japan have more cruisers relatively than we have, it is because they have preserved a proper balance of light and heavy warships, and merely built new cruisers to replace old ones, as they had a right to do. Our disparity began before the war, when our government persistently built battleships to the neglect of cruisers, and has continued since the war. The other powers are not over their cruiser ratio; we are under our ratio.

This publication also corrects a prevalent error regarding naval gun ranges. There is a general impression that British battleships out-range ours, because of superior gun elevation, and that the United States has been tricked into practical inferiority by British interference with the efforts to give our big guns greater elevation. The fact is, the Scientific American finds, that our five latest battleships greatly out-range the British battleships, and in a battle we would have the British at our mercy for half an hour before it could get into action. Which is reassuring but not important, because it is morally inconceivable that there should be any such battle.

The best "dollar diplomacy" is international friendliness.

West May Want Public Lands

San Bernardino Sun

Movement to have the government turn over to the states all of the public lands has been launched by Wyoming, the legislature of which has adopted a resolution urging the western states involved to organize to move on Washington. There has been for a year or two discussion of a proposal for the states to seek ownership of the public lands and Wyoming is now seeking to crystallize that sentiment.

The states involved include Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, California, Oregon and Washington. The government owns more than 550,000 square miles of territory within the eleven states aside from Indian reservations and parks. These states have 22 Senators and 33 Representatives.

San Bernardino county is instantly interested, for a vast amount of land within this county is still in the public domain.

The San Bernardino Forest Reserve is a part of the 550,000 square miles involved. The total area in the forest reserves of the western states is 205,000 square miles.

The policy of conservation, which lead to the creation of the federal forest reserves, is now a deep-seated government policy. That the nation would ever turn over to the state these forests is somewhat to be doubted. That the people of the states themselves would want the states to take title may even be doubtful. First we would want to know whether the forest reserves would be administered at least equally as well as the government administers them. The people generally are concerned in all forests. It might be expected that the nation would regard with suspicion the varied programs that might develop in 11 states in regard to forests. There may be the suspicion that much of this forest land would find its way into private ownership from the states—particularly in states where either the lumber or the cattle interests have strong influence.

In San Bernardino county, for instance, there would be no support of a program that had any likelihood of resulting in private ownership of the lands in the San Bernardino mountains. We want it retained perpetually as a great playground.

Of the lands other than forest reserve, however, there are 75,000 square miles which include coal, oil, phosphate and other mineral reservations. The rest is desert and mountains, for practically all of the agricultural land has been homesteaded. Much of the public domain is used for grazing purposes.

That the states have a legitimate claim to these hundreds of thousands of square miles of unoccupied land there is no doubt. Congress, despite the fact that the nations owns vast territories of land in the West, does no more for the West than it does for other states. Even in federal road construction there is no more money spent in the federal-land states than elsewhere, even though this land can not be taxed, like the land in other states, for highway purposes. It is true Congress has provided for large irrigation and reclamation projects in the West, but this form of federal development is apparently practically at an end.

Mutilation of Trees

Sacramento Bee

Washington citizens are up in arms over the mutilation of many beautiful trees in the national capital in order to make room for the double decked busses to pass.

According to press accounts of the incident, it appears that when these vehicles were adopted and it was found they were too high to pass under some of the older trees, the lower branches were cleared off in such a manner as not only to make the trees unsightly, but to inflict permanent injury as well.

Commenting thereon, the New York Times says: "Washington's trees were among its most precious assets. Whoever has walked through the richly shaded avenues has had a new sense of the value of trees in city planning."

"Unfortunately there is no redress for Washington's injury. Trees once mutilated cannot be restored. If they survive, they are ill shaped and ugly, having lost their natural form."

"But the experience of Washington should be a warning to the country. In some cases it is impossible to avoid cutting down trees. But there have been instances recently—Senator Bingham took his own state to task last summer—when splendid specimens have been destroyed rather than remove the road a few feet to the right or left. Such shortsightedness cannot be compensated even by extensive new planting of trees, for what is destroyed in an hour or a day has taken a century to produce."

What the Times has to say as to the value of trees and the evil results of doing them damage has a local application.

Sacramento should ever be on guard against those who would do here such shameful damage as has been wrought in Washington.

GARGLE SOOTHES, BUT DOESN'T HURT GERMS
Most specialists are convinced that gargles seldom reach the tissues deep in the throat in sufficient quantity or strength to permit them to have much effect in killing germs or in curing disease.

They have, however, the value of washing out everything that they can reach and of relieving dryness of the mouth and throat and of substituting a good taste in the mouth for one that may be unpleasant.

If it is necessary to apply antiseptic solutions to the tonsils or the back of the throat or to the cheeks, these are best applied by spreading with a cotton swab which has been dipped in a solution of the appropriate strength. Sprays from an atomizer properly used will also reach the parts affected better than gargles.

Since the primary purpose of the mouth wash or throat wash is cleansing and soothing rather than germ-killing, one of the best simple cleansing washes is salt solution made up of one-fourth teaspoonful of salt to a half glass of warm water. If there is much mucus present, the addition of a quarter teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda is sometimes beneficial.

Most of the mouth washes and gargles sold in the drug stores contain a basis of water, salt, bicarbonate of soda, or boric acid, with additional flavoring materials of various kinds.

Alcohol is astringent, cleansing and antiseptic. It is frequently recommended by physicians as a gargle or mouth wash, one part of alcohol being used to four or five parts water.

If the mouth is dry during an illness, chewing gum, or the drinking of some effervescent waters, such as ginger ale has a pleasant effect. It serves also to increase the flow of saliva and prevents drying of the membranes.

A person who is convalescing from a long illness in which there has been much fever suffers greatly with dryness of the mouth and sometimes with scaling. It is, therefore, especially important to examine the mouth after an illness to find out whether the teeth, the gums, or the throat have been badly infected, and to relieve any inflammations that may be present.

The Wonders of Silence

Philadelphia Public Ledger

It has been said of Tennyson and Browning that their friendship was so perfect they could sit together for long periods in silence and understand each other. Philosophers insist that silence is golden; men of few words have been called wise, and sometimes men of no words have been accepted as voiceless oracles.

Silence is golden when it promotes peace and happiness and when it expresses the nobler elements of character. It is golden when it keeps inviolate that which is sacred and that which is beautiful. There is in the heart of each of us an unvoiced prayer. There is in the mind of each of us a dream that remains forever unspoken. These things belong to silence because they are sacred and because they are of such beauty that they are inarticulate.

As we get nearer the material side of life we become noisier. The noise and bustle of the modern world are the noise and bustle of materialism. We call these things progress, but we cannot change the truth that they are altogether of the earth. Men have been known to go into the quiet hills to pray or commune with their God or gods. There they found strength, and it must have been because the hills immemorably have been the custodians of silence.

Silence is beauty; music is beauty. Between the two, man in his little way constantly is trying to express himself; and when he departs a great distance from either, he becomes loud and disagreeable. Above all, silence is like the sleeping seas. It gathers to itself calmness and strength; it rests upon peace and beauty; it is the whisper of endless time; it is the purifier of men's souls and the mighty force that bears human being to the realms of greatness.

Worth While Verse

THE SUMMONS

I can but think, when I have heard The Summons,
And, spirit-free, I to have crossed The Bar,
It would be mockery to drape in mourning
My threshold, as so many doorways are—

I'd have, instead, a scarf of many colors,
All rainbow-hued, and brilliant, like the flowers—
And tears, if there be any, tears of gladness,
Falling as gently as do spring-time showers.

I'd have triumphant music, deep and rolling
As that grand harmony among the spheres—
Divinely joyous, as befits promotion
To planes untouched by mourning and by tears.

Not creep upon the door! Would you so herald
The coming of a soul upon the earth?

Then why not use the symbols of rejoicing
To consecrate the soul's transcendent birth?

—M. Helene Peterson, Santa Ana, in March "Lariat."

"Didn't I go to school, stupid?" almost roared his opponent.

"Yes," was the calm reply, "and you came back stupid."

Sid Hunt and Sam Cross are still mad at each other, and this afternoon they started to have a fierce argument and threatened to punch each other in the snout and push each other face in, and different things, both being afraid to start on account of what the other one might do, and Sid said, Well I tell you one thing, if you get my brother Fred around me I'll get my big brother Fred to slap you so hard you'll see so many stars you'll think it's nite time.

Aw go on, my brother Willie can lick your brother Fred with one hand behind his back, Sam said, and Sid said, O you don't say so, well my brother Fred can lick your brother Willie with one hand behind him and the other hand in his pocket, and anyways, besides my brother Fred knows a prizefighter, and if this prizefighter just put up on fist your brother Willie would run a mile without breathing.

O he would, would he, well my brother Willie goes around with a guy and this guy's father is a detective, so I guess you know how long that prizefighter would stay around when this detective once showed him his badge, Sam said.

O is that so? Sid said.

Yes that so, Sam said.

You don't say so, Sid said.

Experiments With Alkali Soil

Oakland Tribune

In an address delivered last September in Fresno, a professor of agricultural chemistry connected with the University of California told for the first time of the happy results achieved after fifty years of research by the University in the reclamation of alkali soil. This paper commented at that time on the important announcement made, and quoted the professor who said it had been discovered that the application of sulphur on alkali land at the rate of 3600 pounds per acre had proven to be an efficacious treatment. How efficacious it was, was shown by the fact that while untreated land in 1921 yielded only 144 pounds of barley hay per acre, the same land after the application of sulphur produced more than nine tons of alfalfa per acre.

This announcement was greeted with great joy in districts where alkali soil had been a great detriment to successful farming and experiments have since been under way in various localities. At Hanford the other day an expert connected with the State Agricultural Station declared:

"The problem of reclaiming alkali land is still in the experimental stage, and the average farmer should consider it from that point of view. It is a fact that progress is being made and excellent results have been obtained at the experiment farm at Fresno, but there are still some points that need to be accurately determined before sulphur is recommended for general use."

"It is now established that it takes at least a year after the sulphur is applied before marked beneficial results can be expected and more time will elapse before profitable crops can be grown on treated soils which were originally highly impregnated with black alkali."

"Tests are now being made in Kings county by the Experiment Station in co-operation with the Farm Advisor's office to determine if the principles discovered at Fresno are applicable to Kings county conditions because of the variability found in alkali in the valley."

"Before a general practice is made of the use of sulphur for alkali reclamation farmers should watch these local experiments and see what results are obtained."

At the time the original announcement above referred to was made it was stressed that the presence of alkali might have caused changes in the chemical properties of the soil and that such changes should be corrected "before the soil can be said to be truly reclaimed or before successful crops can be grown." Certain unsuccessful experiments perhaps indicate the presence of this chemical change in the soil.

The suggestion has been made that any farmer desiring to experiment with sulphur for alkali reclamation should get in touch with his farm advisor who will advise as to the best methods to pursue in giving it a fair trial.

An Ode to Spring Fever

It is only in the very early spring time, properly speaking, that mankind can be said to revert to the untarnished wisdom that was its original heritage.

This is only another way of saying that spring fever, which is usually maligned as a disguised form of ordinary laziness, is in reality one of the most lofty, clear-sighted states to which a man can attain.

Spring fever, oddly enough, does not appear in its most virulent form when spring is actually here. It is brought on well in advance of spring. An unseasonably warm day late in February or very early in March causes a veritable epidemic of it.

On such a day comes spring fever. What are the symptoms of this malady; and why should one remark that it represents a state of extreme wisdom and blessedness?

Well, consider it for a moment. On all ordinary days the average man has his nose so close to the grindstone that he cannot look about him and see truly how fair is the world in which he lives. His mind is filled with cares and worries that are of the earth earthly; such things as rent and unpaid bills and whether he'll be able to buy that new suit this month or had better wait until next. His daily job is of magnified importance; he cannot conceive of himself except in connection with it.

Then comes a good attack of spring fever.

He quits work at noon and steps out to lunch. On the way back he loiters. Perhaps he even goes a couple of blocks out of his way to make his walk last longer.

These are signs that wisdom has descended upon him. He feels, deep down, that he is not, after all, a mere animated machine made for the purpose of earning a pay check and supporting a family, but a true son of light, basking for a moment on this delightful planet on his long flight through infinity. The laziness that besets him comes because he realizes that he is superior to time and can afford to be prodigal of it.

He knows, though he will forget it later, that the chief end of man is not, after all, the getting of dollars and the laying away of stores for a rainy day; he realizes that he was born to a heritage far above that of a purblind toiler, and that, though he appear to his fellows as a clerk or a mechanic or a lawyer, he is in reality an immortal wanderer from regions far away, whose trailing clouds of glory still exist even though they may go unnoticed.

Coasting

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

SOMETIMES I get positively maudlin with sentiment over city children who can't know the glorious freedom of the country. There is coasting, for instance, on a great snow-crust hill which slopes swiftly from its bald top down, down, down—clear to the pasture and ice-coated brook below. Oh, the thrill of throwing oneself onto a sled and, with face only a few inches above the flying snow, go speeding breathlessly into the valley!

SAID Jackie Frost
To Ted McGee,
"Come on, slide down
This hill with me."

The hill was ice,
As smooth as plaster,
And Jackie yelled,
"Go fast—and faster!"

Like fifty trains
They flew, you bet,
And I think, perhaps
They're going yet!
